Still Unreported

Churchill-Roosevelt Whereabouts Mystery

Amid increasing speculation that Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt have met, the leading figures in the supposed romantic history-making drama have not been heard from for several days.

President Roosevelt left Washington more than a week ago for a holiday cruise on the presidential yacht Potomac. A few bulletins have been received from the ship, saying the fishing was fine, or poor, and that all aboard were well. Saturday came a message the President's ship was in dense fog.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill has not appeared in the news for nearly two weeks. Last week British Foreign Secretary Eden and Lord Privy Seal Alee spoke for him in the House of Commons.

Reports from England said the Prime Minister failed to attend his granddaughter's christening Sunday in London.

Today the Prime Minister paid tribute to men of the merchant navy as "worthy successors" in a tradition of steadfast courage and high adventure, but he merely sent his message to the official organ of the National Union of Seamen.

Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's personal envoy, is also linked with the meeting. He, likewise, has disappeared from the public scene. The last picture of him showed him and Mr. Churchill stepping into an airplane.

Yesterday Mr. Hopkins was to have visited Portsmouth, England, to receive the freedom of the city. He failed to show up, so the award was conferred on him in absentia.

Freedom of the city was also

EVEN FALLA DIDN'T GO ALONG—Usually Falla, President Roosevelt's pet Scottie, goes everywhere with his master. But when the President departed on his present trip even Falla had to stay at home. Here the President says good-bye to his pet before departing on a trip which has the world guessing.

to have been bestowed on Prime Minister Churchill, but a dispatch from Portsmouth merely said "Mr. Churchill also was not present."

For two days now there have been no reports from President Roosevelt's ship.

Some sources say Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada is at the conference, if it is being held. Mr. King, likewise, has not appeared in public in recent days. Postmaster-General Mulock spoke for him Saturday.

Summer Welles, Assistant U.S. Secretary of State, is absent from Washington as are several high-ranking U.S. navy and army officials.

Final Bulletins Petain Lines Up With Germany Against Russia

VICHY, France (AP)—Marshal Petain, Vichy Chief of State, committed himself to full collaboration with Germany in a radio address to the French nation tonight.

The aged marshal ranged himself squarely on the side of Germany in the fight against Russia, which he said was a "defence in the east of civilization" and was a battle which could "change the map of the world."

Petain personally appealed to the United States for understanding and to the French for their co-operation.

He admitted that his so-called national revolution had failed of its aims so far.

In committing himself to full collaboration with Germany, Petain said centuries of quarrelling with France's eastern neighbor had to give way to a larger perspective which "by our activity can open up a reconciled continent."

20 Planes Lost

LONDON (CP)—United States-built Fortress planes participated in the R.A.F. assault of unprecedented scale on Germany and France, including the bold raid on Cologne. A total of 20 British planes was lost.

Term Extended

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives decided tentatively today to extend the training of United States selectees, national guardsmen and army reserves 18 months beyond the originally-set one year.

Nazi General Caught

MOSCOW (AP)—Capture of a German general by Russian guerrilla fighters was reported by the Soviet information bureau tonight.

The general stopped in a village presumably behind the German lines because of a breakdown of his car. At this point a guerrilla detachment appeared and made the general their prisoner.

Parachute Troops

LONDON (CP)—A Bucharest message to the Vichy news agency quoted today by the BBC said Russia has been dropping parachute troops in Rumania since the start of the war.

Plane Output Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of production management announced today United States military aircraft manufacturers delivered 1,460 airplanes during July, a decrease of 16 from the preceding month. Officials gave no explanation for the decrease. They did not disclose the types of planes completed, nor the number which went to the army, the navy or Great Britain.

Crop Yield Down

CALGARY (CP)—With an estimated production of 93,000,000 bushels, Alberta's crop yield this year is expected to be less than half that of last year, according to the first general survey for the season released today by the Alberta wheat pool.

117 Serbs Killed

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Military sources said tonight that 117 more Serbs had been executed in the last two days in various parts of German-occupied Yugoslavia because of conditions of revolt which have spread to all sections of the kingdom.

Gasoline Shells

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The newspaper Social Demokraten reported today Russians on the Finnish front are using shells loaded with gasoline which burst 200 feet from the ground and ignite forests.

R.A.F. Batters Cologne In Big Daylight Raid

LONDON (CP)—The Royal Air Force bombed Cologne in an audacious daylight raid today and sent a great air armada out to attack the coast of German-occupied France on a nonstop foray which sharply renewed Britain's large-scale air offensive against the Nazis.

The raid on the ancient Rhine-land metropolis was described by the Press Association as possibly the heaviest daylight attack yet made on Germany. The assault on the French coast was carried out in such force that observers on the English southeast coast gave up trying to count the number of planes roaring out over the Channel.

High-flying bombers and protecting fighter planes swept eastward in both "V" and diamond formations. Crowds gathered all afternoon to watch the spectacular offensive.

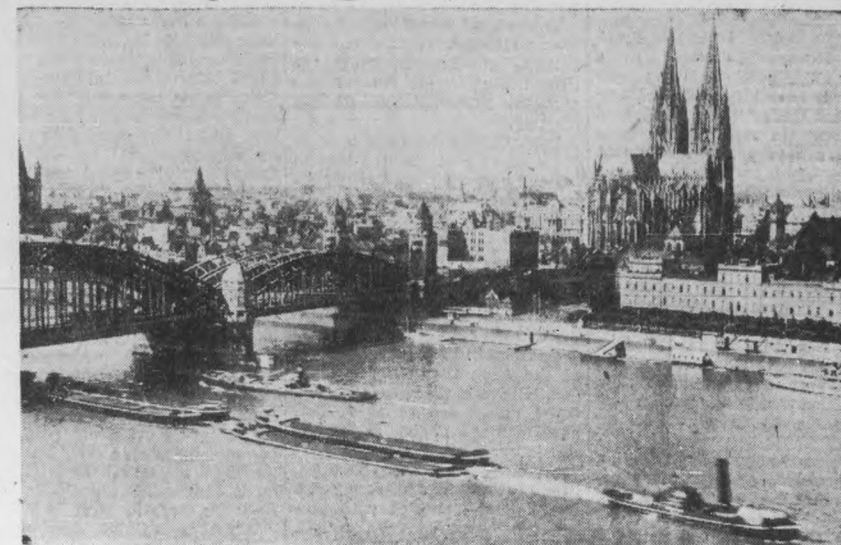

VITAL SPOT

The city, which straddles the Rhine and contains many of the vital industries for which the Rhineland is famed and which are feeding the German war machine, has been raided approximately 100 times by night.

It is the metropolis of the Rhineland and the third largest city in Germany, having a normal population of about 750,000.

The many-towered city is famous for its great Gothic cathedral and for numerous other buildings dating to the 13th century, as well as its magnificent bridges.

Squadron after squadron of Royal Air Force machines swarmed through the sky at a height of 5,000 feet above the Cologne with its famed cathedral.

Dover Strait. As they moved on toward their objectives the fleet was outlined sharply against masses of clouds.

NO OPPOSITION

Watchers on the English coast saw no signs of opposition. The big bombers flew toward the continent in formation and returned, still in formation, while new units were starting out for the attack.

The raids followed overnight blasting at northern France and the Netherlands by the R.A.F. and the bombing of targets in Germany by planes of both the R.A.F. and the Russian air force. A Moscow communique said Russian bombers raided Berlin again last night, attacking military objectives and starting fires.

ESSEN

An unidentified Russian engineer who visited Essen shortly before Germany invaded Russia described the German industrial centre as a "woeful picture of destruction," BBC reported.

"British bombers appeared methodically over the city and dropped hundreds of bombs," the engineer said.

"Its devastated streets were pitted by bombs and whole blocks of houses swept away — Essen presented a woeful picture of destruction."

ADMITTED BY NAZIS

BERLIN (AP)—The German high command today acknowledged assaults on Germany by both Soviet and British planes, but claimed the Red air force's "desultory attacks attempted on northeast Germany were ineffective."

The Royal Air Force, however, destroyed or damaged buildings in several western German localities, "especially Duisburg."

Lord Willingdon Dead

The Marquis of Willingdon, former Governor-General of Canada, Viceroy of India and the first Freeman of the City of Victoria, died today in England.

During his first official visit here in March, 1927, Lord Willingdon was created a Freeman by Mayor J. Carl Pendray at a ceremony in the City Hall. He was presented with a scroll and a golden key to the city. The only other Freeman is R. P. Butchart.

While he was Governor-General he made several visits to Victoria with Lady Willingdon and stayed at Government House with Hon. Randolph Bruce and his niece, Miss Helen Mackenzie.

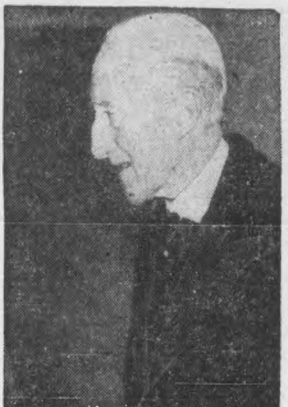

WEST COAST TRIP

In April, 1929, Lord and Lady Willingdon were guests of the Canadian Pacific Railway on the maiden voyage of Ss. Princess Norah along the west coast of Vancouver Island. Capt. C. D. Neroutos, then manager of the B.C. Coast Service, was host to the Vice-Regal party and the late Capt. Gillam was master of the Norah.

Lord Willingdon was presented by the Indians at Friendly Cove with an ancient totem pole, which is still standing on the village beach.

In 1926 Lord Willingdon was chairman of the Boxer indemnity committee and visited Victoria on his way to China, being guest of Mrs. James Dunsmuir at Hatley Park.

When he returned from India

City's first freeman.

a few years ago, Lord Willingdon was appointed Warden of the Cinque Ports and lived in Kent's historic Walmer Castle. His London home was in Lygon Place.

In 1938, with Lady Willingdon, he visited South America on a cultural mission and in November, 1940, went there again, as leader of a trade mission. In February of this year, when in South America, his health broke down and he was forced to return to England. Two weeks ago he developed pneumonia. His son, Viscount Ratendone, 42, succeeds to the title.

French Abhor Darlan, Laval

VANCOUVER (CP)—In a letter to a Vancouver family an 18-year-old French girl, writing from unoccupied France, says "Our only hope is a British victory."

The girl signed only her first name to the letter and because the recipients here still have relatives in France their name is withheld too.

"Do not think that I exaggerate when I say that 85 per cent of the French people are waiting only for one thing, the chance of helping the British to get rid of our enemies," the writer says. "I could give a higher percentage quite safely, I think, but 85 per cent is the most impartial figure."

"I am writing you," the French girl opens her letter, "because we are tired of being silent and of not being able to say what we think."

"We place our faith in the English," she says. "They are our only hope of salvation. And like us, the French people, that is to say the overwhelming majority of French people, refuse to co-operate with Germany."

The writer says Darlan and Laval "are abhorred by all of us, almost as much as Hitler."

Die in Crash

MONTREAL (CP)—Twenty-two men, eight of them from Canada, were killed in a flying accident in the United Kingdom August 9, it was announced here today by the Royal Air Force ferry command.

Seven were from the United States.

The announcement gave no further details of the accident, but listed the dead as follows:

R.O. J. B. Drake, New Westminster, B.C.; R.O. W. G. Kennedy, Titchbourne, Ont.; Capt. J. H. Anderson, Charlottetown; R.O. H. C. McIntosh, Agincourt, Ont.; R.O. G. Laing, Halifax; R.O. R. B. Brammer, Toronto; R.O. W. K. Marks, Stratford, Ont.; Capt. H. C. W. Smith, Montreal; F. Eng. E. G. Reeves, Roslyn Heights, N.Y.; Capt. G. T. Harris, Kansas; Capt. D. J. Duggan, Winthrop, Mass.; Capt. H. R. Rudy, Dallas, Texas; Capt. J. Wixen, Los Angeles; Capt. J. J. Roulstone, Long Beach, Calif.; Capt. W. M. King, Arkansas; Capt. E. R. B. White, Ayr; Capt. F. D. Bradbrooke, London; R.O. H. S. Green, Bristol; R.O. H. D. Rees, Llanelly, South Wales; R.O. G. H. Powell, Derby; Capt. J. E. Price, Geelong, Australia, and R.O. A. A. Oliver, Swindon, England.

No Demands Yet

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Col. Sarabaga, leader of the Thai boundary commission which has been engaged in fixing the new frontier between Thailand and Indo-China, said today his country would welcome foreign aid if she were attacked, but that at present there was no pressure from any quarter.

He said Thailand could not consider demands for military or naval bases or the right to transport foreign troops across her territory if they were presented. Any armed attempt to violate Thailand's neutrality would be resisted by all the means at her disposal, he declared.

Suez Raided

CAIRO (AP)—The Suez Canal area and the port of Alexandria were raided from the air last night, an Egyptian government communique said today.

Eight persons were killed and 13 injured in the Canal Zone and four persons were injured at Alexandria, it was stated. "Some damage" was done in the canal area and "slight" damage was done at Alexandria.

Far East Near Explosion

Canadian and Associated Press Swift-breaking developments in the Far East crisis today indicated events were moving inexorably nearer the explosion point.

In London, authoritative quarters declared bluntly "if Japan wants war in the Pacific there will be war, if she wants peace there will be peace."

In Tokyo, the militarist newspaper Kokumin said the United States and Great Britain had been warned that any further united anti-Japanese pressure would bring about "nothing but the worst situation" and that Japan was bent on pushing ahead with her new order in East Asia.

In Melbourne Australia's Prime Minister R. G. Menzies led his war cabinet into a second extraordinary session, and opposition leader J. H. Curtin commented solemnly:

"The time has come when Australia asks loyal and devoted service from her sons. I put it as plainly as I can to every Australian that the safety of this country is at stake."

AT STAKE

In Washington, Senator Walter George of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said "It definitely is in the range of possibility" that the United States might break off all commercial relations with Japan.

Senator Gerald Nye, Republican, North Dakota, critic of administration foreign policy, declared that "Americans have a natural antipathy to the Japanese, and it wouldn't take nearly as much flag waving to get us involved there as it would to involve us across the Atlantic."

In Shanghai, the Japanese army spokesman, Lt.-Col. Kunio Akayama, declared his government was gravely concerned over the possibility that Russia's Pacific port of Vladivostok might become "America's first line of defence against Japan."

"With the United States following a virtual policy of encirclement, of Japan, it is only natural that Japan is concerned that American arms and munitions might reach the Soviet Siberian forces," he said.

Akayama asserted current Japanese military preparations in Manchukuo, where upward of 500,000 Japanese troops are reported massing along the Soviet frontier, were "purely defensive."

Koh Ishii, Japanese cabinet spokesman, expressed grave concern over any shipments of United States war materials to Russia via Vladivostok.

"Japan wishes that the United States would not send munitions," he declared. "Japan desires peace in the Pacific and so Japan is watching such shipments with urgent concern."

He said Japan's attitude would be the same whether the supplies were sent in United States or Russian freighters.

AMBASSADOR VISITS
It was believed the British ambassador to Japan, Sir Robert Craigie, in a visit to Foreign Minister Toyoda, had plainly discussed the "serious situation" which might arise through any change in Thailand's status and might also have discussed the Russian situation.

United States Ambassador Joseph Grew has not yet seen Toyoda.

HOW ALLIED BOMBERS CHECK JAPAN—Allied bombers with ranges of 3,000 miles and up, are a major threat to Japanese aggression southward, for they can blanket all southeast Asia and would probably meet little opposition from the older, weakening Nipponese air force. Map shows areas bombers now at Singapore, Manila, and Chungking could cover, with Vladivostok a possible base for direct bombing of Tokyo.

Nazis Driving to Black Sea

Canadian and Associated Press German military dispatches pictured Russia's big black sea port of Odessa as doomed today, with Nazi troops storming down both sides of the Bug River and Red Army forces allegedly attempting to escape by sea.

DNE, German news and propaganda agency, claimed German bombers already had sunk six troop-laden Russian transports off the Ukraine coast near Odessa.

The Russians made no mention of Odessa. They declared the Red Army still holding firm in the Smolensk salient as fighting there went into its 28th day, and in the Bel Tserkov sector 90 miles south of Kiev.

night but said only two planes reached the general region of the capital.

Moscow also was raided last night—its 17th air attack—but the Russians said it was one of the shortest and weakest their capital had experienced.

The daily Red war bulletin declared the Russians still held the Nazis stalemated on the central road to Moscow in the long-contested Smolensk salient.

FIGHTING IN NORTH
The centres of fighting in the north were listed as Kakisalmi, on the Karelian Isthmus 75 miles north of Leningrad, and in the Soltsi sector 120 miles south of Russia's second largest city.

Key zones in the south still were given by the Russians as Korosten, 80 miles northwest of Kiev, and Uman, midway between the Ukraine capital and Odessa.

The communique credited the Red air force with hard blows at German air bases deep behind the lines.

The rout of a large German tank column in the Korosten area was reported in detail.

Food Reserves Need of U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt declared in a letter made public today by Agricultural Secretary Claude Wickard that United States needs food reserves "to meet emergencies which can as yet be only dimly foreseen."

Mr. Roosevelt said that in this time of crisis, "food is a weapon against Hitlerism just as much as munitions and food will continue to be a weapon in all efforts toward insuring a more orderly, prosperous and peaceful world."

He recalled that in the first great war it became necessary to establish a food administration, but added that in this war he saw no reason to believe such an agency would be needed.

"We need abundant production for ourselves and for other nations resisting aggression," the President wrote. "The monstrous forces that Nazism has loosed upon the world are ramping many lands. The first task is to beat down these forces and then to repair the damage they have done to the best of our ability. In this process of rebuilding and rehabilitation, food will be essential."

R.A.F. PLANES BOMB SICILY

CAIRO (AP)—Torpedo-carrying British planes of the British fleet attacked ships in the harbor of Sicily and are believed to have scored two hits on a vessel of 1,300 tons, the Royal Air Force Middle East Command announced today.

Bombs also were dropped in Gerbiti airdrome in Sicily, and a hit scored on a power station in Tripoli, Libya, which set off an explosion which could be seen 300 miles away.

Bengasi, Bardia and Ain el Gazala also were violently bombed.

Lord Willingdon

First Governor-General To Represent Crown

Earl Willingdon, who died today, was an aristocrat with a fine appreciation of the virtues of democracy.

He was the first Governor-General in Canada to represent the crown rather than the British government. The Statute of Westminster, passed in 1926, gave Canada and the other Dominions equal partnership with the United Kingdom in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

This meant the Governor-General no longer represented the British government, but the Crown itself. He became the personal representative of His Majesty.

Lord Willingdon took over in India when that country was in turmoil over the Congress party's civil disobedience campaign for independence. With a firm hand he broke up that campaign and kept its leaders impotent until tension was eased and home-rule advocates agreed to carry on the fight by constitutional means.

Few men have had more varied experience in the highest service of the King than Earl Willingdon. In his earlier years he rendered useful service as soldier, parliamentarian and diplomatic missioner.

Freeman Freeman-Thomas, first Earl Willingdon, came of a family long identified with Sussex, his father being Frederick Freeman-Thomas of Rotton and Yapton, Willingdon; and his mother Mabel, daughter of the first Viscount Hampden, former speaker of the House of Commons. He was born September 12, 1866, and in 1892 married Hon. (afterwards Lady) Marie Adelaide, daughter of Earl Brassey, naval expert.

In education, training and influence, Lord Willingdon was Eton and Cambridge at their best. Lord Willingdon succeeded Lord Byng as Governor-General on October 2, 1926.

MADE FRIENDS

While in Canada he made friends from coast to coast.

He was genuinely interested in the welfare of Canada, a convinced believer in the future greatness of the Canadian people, an earnest admirer of their virtues and a stout proponent of Canadianism.

Before his term in Canada was over, many troubles were developing in India. The eastern empire was in turmoil, and one of the greatest needs was a firm yet sympathetic hand at the head of affairs. His earlier years there had given Lord Willingdon a thorough grasp of Indian life and he was the logical man for the post.

Lord Willingdon sailed for India in April, 1931. Civil disobedience and general unrest were rife. He lost little time proclaiming his attitude toward political extremists. In a speech at Calcutta he announced the government's intention to take a firm line, and at the same time made an earnest appeal to Mahatma Gandhi, originator of the "civil disobedience" idea, to call a halt to his campaign.

FIRM HAND

Lord Willingdon set himself with a firm hand to crush the renewed subversive activities of the Indian Congress Party, and he succeeded fully. The Congress itself was driven underground, all forms of congress work throughout the country were stopped. In fact as well as law the congress ceased to exist; it became impossible for the Nationalists even to hold their annual conventions in 1932 and 1933; the majority were in jail.

When he entered Parliament Freeman-Thomas already had experience of life in government circles overseas as aide-de-camp to Lord Brassey when the latter was governor of Victoria State from 1895 to 1900. He represented Hastings till 1906, then represented Bodmin, Cornwall, to 1910. He received a peerage in that year and continued in the House of Lords until he was selected for the governorship of Bombay in 1913. He remained in India for 11 years, governing the Bombay presidency with such conspicuous success that he was persuaded to carry on as governor of Madras.

Two sons were born to him. The elder, Gerard Frederick, was killed in action in 1914. The surviving son, heir to the earldom, is Hon. Inigo Brassey Freeman-Thomas, born in 1899, who married Maxine, daughter of Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, the eminent actor.

Cancer Treatment Progress

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Clyde K. Emery, physician, said today he and his associates have completed the world's most powerful X-ray tube for cancer treatment and research.

The tube, he said, will generate between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 volts.

Dr. Emery for eight years aided in conducting cancer clinical work with the 1,000,000-volt tube at the California Institute of Technology. In 1933 "Caltech" decided to remodel its equipment for atom smashing.

"During these years of research," said Dr. Emery, "we found evidence that certain types of cancer responded better to treatment with high voltage X-rays."

"These were deep-seated cancers of the kidneys, bladder and other parts of the body."

"When Caltech decided to turn its tube to other uses, Drs. S. R.

Baker and Melville Jacobs and I determined to build the larger tube, which now is in use. We are known as the Emery group."

"We hope the new tube will prove of value in treating certain types of cancer and enable us to learn more about the disease."

Dr. Charles C. Lauritsen, physicist in charge of the Caltech tube, helped design the more powerful one.

The treatment chamber is surrounded by three feet thick concrete walls and lead shields which protect physicians and nurses from simulative exposure to escaping rays.

The 14-foot porcelain tube is enclosed in a steel tank, insulated by highly compressed air.

OTTAWA (CP)—Question of curbing instalment buying in Canada has been studied but has not been decided upon by the cabinet. Such control has been announced in Washington.

Fine Furs by London Craftsmen Displayed Here

A sumptuous collection of furs, composing the latest styles designed by London's top furriers, was displayed yesterday afternoon at the Hudson's Bay Company in the first public showing of the British fur trade export group which is exhibiting its collection of over 400 furs throughout Canada to make Canadian women fur-conscious, and build up a favorable trade balance so that Britain may "buy the tools."

Bringing the collection to this continent is Alexander Penn, personal representative of C. J. Ross & Co. Ltd., largest fur manufacturers in the world, who made a record trip from London to Victoria with a special shipment of furs to replace some that were lost on the Atlantic.

Gathered from the corners of the Empire and sent to London to be dressed and dyed, the furs displayed were all skins in stock in the London houses before war broke out, Mr. Penn declared, and since that time no more furs have been imported. The large fur establishments had to be moved from London due to the heavy raids, and it was from many evacuated firms that the coats shown yesterday had come.

BEAUTIFUL QUALITY

The display took the form of an informal salon, Mr. Penn commenting on the coats as the models walked around the aisles. Styles were original and smart, the furs of a beautiful quality, showing expert dying and piecing. The finishing work was especially detailed, braided bands of soft satin being sewn on the inside of the neckline to prevent fur from being rubbed.

Many types of furs were shown—British Indian Persian lamb, in new fitted and flared effects; native South American skunk, softer and with longer hair than our variety; Russian Persian lamb with fitted waistline and pleated panel effects and full bell sleeves. The new silhouette calls for fitted lines, sloping shoulders and flared skirt. Some sports models had suede belts, collars and cuffs. Pouch pockets were a new touch.

Exemplifying the fine art of dyeing were several fox garments; a luxurious blue fox evening jacket that was originally pure white fox; a Russian fox jacket that looked like real Cross Fox; and also a dyed coon in deep glossy browns, made up in narrow strips that gave it the appearance of much more expensive fur.

Startling, though very smart, were several models in white and red Lincoln lamb, a short curly fur, practical for high school or college wear, and shown in youthful sports styles.

The exhibition will continue of the Hudson's Bay store every afternoon until August 16.

Fears Hitler Will Beat Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Ewing Thomason (Dem., Texas) called on the United States House of Representatives today to extend the service of citizen soldiers because, he said, on the basis of expert military opinion Hitler is "going to take Russia" and then Britain will be "next on the list."

"Brave old England," Thomason said, amid applause, "I hope she stands, but there's not a man on this floor who doesn't know if she falls who will be next on Hitler's list."

Germany has 260 seasoned divisions in the field with 400 more in training which will be ready for service this fall, he said, adding: "Our army has 33 divisions and untrained."

While explaining he could not reveal information that had been given to the military committee in executive session, Thomason said there were more than 200 German schools in Argentina, 1,200,000 Germans in Brazil, many of them active in organized propaganda groups, and declared that Germans also had numerous air bases in Latin America, some of them "within striking distance of the Panama Canal."

'Germany Will Pay Terrible Price'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sir Gerald Campbell, director of British information in America, said today: "Germany will pay a terrible price. Britain has a secret weapon forged by Hitler himself. The weapon is wrought out of the hearts and minds, out of the calm courage and spirit of men and women, and it will win the war."

"We have sworn upon the cross to carry the fight to the bitter end, not only for ourselves but to save other peoples from what Hitler calls his new order—an order for dying, not for living."

Macdonald Confers With 3rd Sea Lord

LONDON (CP)—Canadian Navy Minister Angus Macdonald reported on Canada's shipbuilding program today in a conference with Vice-Admiral B. A. Fraser, Third Sea Lord with whom he had an "interesting discussion" on destroyer and merchant ship construction.

The conference, attended also by Rear-Admiral Percy Nelles, chief of staff, and Capt. F. L. Houghton, director of plans, who accompanied their chief to Britain, came at the end of a busy morning devoted to meetings with Air Commodore L. F. Stevenson and Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, respectively heads of Canadian air and military headquarters in London.

Later the minister planned private talks with Viscount Cranborne, Secretary of State for the Dominions, and Vice-Admiral T. V. Phillips, vice chief of naval staff.

Mr. Macdonald will start a round of visits to Canadian Navy personnel Thursday, going to a training establishment "or Canadians who will serve with the Royal Navy."

Nanaimo Pioneer Dies

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Funeral services will be held here Thursday for Mrs. Elizabeth Dunsmore, 82, Nanaimo resident for the past 31 years, who died last night. She was born in Netherthorpe, Northumberland, England. Mrs. Dunsmore, a life member of the W.C.T.U., leaves four sons, John, Robert and Andrew, Nanaimo; Alexander, in England, and five daughters, Annie and Olive and Mrs. Joseph Rogers, Nanaimo; Mrs. J. Auld, in England, and Mrs. C. E. Wood, in California.

Darlan Gets New Powers

VICHY, France (AP)—Vice-Premier Admiral Jean Darlan was named Minister of National Defence today in a reorganization of the Vichy cabinet which concentrated all military powers in his hands.

A decree published in a special edition of the official journal gave Darlan greater powers than any person or combination of persons in France except Chief of State Marshal Petain himself.

Darlan on June 10 called for "loyal" collaboration with Germany and has publicly attacked Britain's war role since the fall of France.

The clue to the concentration of powers was seen in statements when such a measure first was hinted that Darlan would thus have his hands free to conduct negotiations with Germany for collaboration.

The German-controlled Paris press has been insistent lately that collaboration include military as well as political and economic matters, and has urged that such co-operation especially be extended to cover the defence of Dakar on the western "hump" of Africa and other strategic points in French Africa.

All members of the government were raised to ministerial rank by the new decree. Some of them previously had held the rank only of State Secretary.

The government now is composed of eight ministers: Admiral Darlan, national defence, foreign affairs and navy; Gen. Charles Huntziger, war; Joseph Barthélemy, justice; Pierre Pucheu, interior (formerly the secretary of that department); Yves Bouthillier, national economy and finance; Pierre Caziot, agriculture; Henry Moysset, minister of state (formerly a secretary of state); Lucien Romier, minister of state.

OIL BARGE HITS RIPPLE ROCK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Officials of the Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Ltd. said today their oil barge S.O. Co. No. 95 was damaged yesterday when it ran on Ripple Rock, in Seymour Narrows, about 125 miles northwest of Vancouver.

The oil company said the barge, en route from Vancouver to Ocean Falls in charge of the tug Snohomish of the Vancouver Island Tug and Barge Company Ltd. of Victoria, was subsequently towed to Deep Bay, B.C., on the Vancouver Island side of the Narrows, and anchored. She is reported to be leaking in three holds, but is believed to have sufficient buoyancy to remain afloat with the aid of her pumps.

The oil barge, said to be the largest of its kind in the world, took a sheer as she was being towed through treacherous Seymour Narrows and ran on to the rocks.

The tugboat Canada of the Vancouver Island Tug and Barge Company is standing by, assisting the Snohomish, while the Pacific Salvage Company Ltd. salvage boat Helac No. 2 is en route to Deep Bay from Vancouver.

Schmidt Arrested

DETROIT (AP)—Carl Julius Schmidt, once deported to Germany as a member of the Kaltenbach dynamiting ring that furnished Detroit's most exciting sabotage trial during the first Great War period, has been arrested here on an immigration warrant and again faces deportation.

John L. Zurbrugg, district immigration inspector, said Schmidt was arrested at the plant of the Nash-Kelvinator Corporation, where he was employed, on a warrant issued in Washington by Lemuel B. Schofield, special assistant attorney-general.

Schmidt, who was convicted of plotting to dynamite an industrial plant in Detroit and an armory in Canada, was deported in 1922 after serving two years in penitentiary. He re-entered the United States August 30, 1923, when he deserted a ship in New York harbor.

However, the charge on which he was arrested was based on a theft in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act to which he pleaded guilty in March, 1918, and paid a $75 fine. Immigration authorities charge the theft was a crime involving moral turpitude and a valid basis for the new deportation proceedings.

he retired for want of competi-

CHAS EVANS HUGHES TALKS WITH KENT

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—With one notable exception the Duke of Kent is spending his two and a half days in this Rocky Mountain resort in much the same way as most visitors.

Most people spurn the icy waters of Lac Beauvert in favor of the heated swimming pool of Jasper Park Lodge.

But the Duke, whose cabin is located on the lake's edge, has expressed his liking for "the real thing," and twice yesterday waded out over the lake's rocky bottom for a vigorous plunge in the chilly waters.

His first dip was taken before breakfast. He took another plunge late in the afternoon after climbing half way up 8,000-foot Whistler Mountain.

The Duke and his aide, Inspector James Evans of Scotland Yard, made the ascent on foot and the Duke was reported later as saying he had had "a thrilling outing."

At dinner last night, His Royal Highness received Charles Evans Hughes, retired chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, and Sydney Cutting, New York
big game hunter and explorer who last year organized the American Committee for Defence of British Homes.

Mrs. Cutting and Mr. and Mrs.
F. Wood of Toronto also were present while Mrs. Hughes was unable to accept the Duke's invitation. Mr. Wood, an industrialist, is staying in Outlook cabin, occupied by the King and Queen during their 1939 Canadian tour.

The Duke is scheduled to leave here tomorrow for Edmonton to continue his Dominion-wide inspection tour of units of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

Japanese Paper Says Pressure Will Bring War

TOKYO (AP)—The militarist daily, Kokumin, said today United States and Great Britain had been warned that any further anti-Japanese pressure by them would bring about "nothing but the worst situation" and that Japan will go ahead with grim resolve toward establishment of her sphere in East Asia.

Kokumin in its editorial said special emphasis had been given the warning to United States. (At the same time authoritative quarters in London declared "If Japan wants war in the Pacific there will be war, if she wants peace, there will be peace.")

WANTS PEACE

The paper, professing that Japan's policy is being worked out along peaceful lines and that she has no aggressive designs, urged United States to approach questions of the Far East calmly.

Britain is putting forth "frantic efforts to cause friction between the United States and Japan" and is resorting to all sorts of moves to disturb the peace of the Pacific, said the paper.

Kokumin compared Britain's policy to the grasp of a drowning man for a straw and asserted she had been on the verge of defeat by Germany for two years.

"SO SORRY"

In an evident reference to Thailand, the newspaper Yomiuri said
"we are extremely sorry for any country joining the Anglo-American camp. If Anglo-Americans are only clamoring from a distance without serious intentions, countries which plunge into fire will only be sacrificed."

At the same time Koh Ishii, cabinet information bureau spokesman, expressed concern over United States shipments of war materials to Vladivostok, Soviet Russia's Far Eastern port.

His statement came during a press conference in which he was asked what was meant by his use recently of the word "embarrassing" in connection with such United States shipments.

Ishii replied:
"Japan wishes that the United States would not send munitions.
Japan desires peace in the Pacific and so Japan is watching such shipments with urgent concern."

NO DIFFERENCE

An American correspondent asked whether it would make any difference to Japan whether war supplies for the Soviet were carried in United States or Russian freighters, and Ishii replied:
"There is no difference."

In response to a question whether there was any indication that Japanese ship sailings to America would be resumed, the spokesman said: "I cannot say."

He disclosed, however, that the steamship Asama Maru, which had been en route to San Francisco with an undetermined number of Americans and a big silk cargo aboard, had turned back toward Japan.

RECIPROCITY

Concerning the possibility of relaxation of the freezing of United States assets in Japan, Ishii said merely that his government would "observe the principle of reciprocity."

Ishii fended off questions as to movement of Japanese forces into Indo-China by saying he could not discuss military matters, but added:

"I understand it is completed."

U.S. May Use Women Pilots

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States army air force officials were reported giving serious consideration today to the use of experienced women pilots in the army's airplane ferry command for flight work somewhat similar to that which women handle for the air force in Britain.

While no final decision has been made, it was learned that the plan contemplated would assign women pilots ferrying training planes from factories to training centres—a task which now occupies the time of regular army fliers who could otherwise be engaged in combat training.

The ferry command, under Col. Robert Olds, was created earlier this year, primarily to handle deliveries of planes destined for Britain from the points of manufacture to ocean shipping or hop-off centres on the east coasts of the United States and Canada. Another part of the new command's job is to ferry American army planes to airfields throughout the country.

Only combat planes have to be flown for the British, but the task of ferrying ships for the United States forces includes extensive handling of trainers.
Since many women fliers have had experience in piloting trainer-type ships, air force officials said women might be able to take over a large part, if not all, of this job.

Several weeks ago a questionnaire was mailed out to women pilots with a view to discovering those who have had at least 200 hours of flying and were otherwise qualified. That a goodly number would qualify was indicated by the fact that civil aeronautics authority showed that, of 2,733 licensed women pilots, 263 have flown 200 hours or more.

Not European War, But World Battle

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—Richard G. Casey, Australian minister to the United States, said here the democracies will lose their political and economic freedom if democracy loses the war even if they never are invaded.

The Australian minister was a speaker at the 23rd annual convention of the Iowa American Legion.

In his prepared address, Mr.
Casey asserted:
"This is no more 'Britain's war' than it is 'Greece's war' or 'Norway's war' or 'Brazil's war'—or your war. This is no limited war about places on a map—this is an attempt on the grand scale to make Germany once and for all master of the world."

"In spite of the tragic events of the last two years—in spite of all that Hitler has written and said and done—in spite of all your President has said—there are still a number of people who believe that this is a European war," he continued.

"This is not a European struggle, he warned, 'but a great worldwide battle, for the freedom of mankind against the brutal strength of tyranny.'"

Australians, he said, "have never been in any doubt as to what this war was about."

Bader, Legless Air Hero, Bagged 15 Nazis, Missing

LONDON (CP)—Wing-Comdr.
Douglas Bader, the 30-year-old legless English airman who led the so-called All-Canadian Squadron of the Royal Air Force through the Battle of Britain, a year ago, was reported missing today.

Bader was personally credited with shooting down 15 planes.
Last month he was awarded the bar to his Distinguished Service Order.

He lost both legs in a flying accident while serving with the R.A.F. in 1931. After proving he could fly with artificial limbs he managed to re-enter the service after the start of the war and carried out many daring feats.

In one night during the height of the Battle of Britain last September his squadron was credited with bringing down 14 Nazi planes.

WINS D.S.O.

Subsequently he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order for the exploit in which not a single bullet found its mark in any of his Hurricanes.

Bader is a native of London.
His mother, Mrs. E. W. Hobbs of Sprotborough, near Doncaster, on being notified he was missing, had the announcement made to the villagers.

Before he lost his legs Bader was one of Britain's greatest stunt fliers. Although 10 years older than most R.A.F. fighter pilots, he led the Canadian squadron through the Battle of Britain with unusual success.

In recent weeks he led his squadron on sweep after sweep across the Channel and northern France.

While a year ago a high proportion of the personnel of Bader's squadron was Canadian, it later dwindled and now is largely British. In the meantime several other All-Canadian formations have been organized.

In addition to the D.S.O. and bar, Bader won the Distinguished Flying Cross and bar—an accomplishment achieved by only one other man in the service, Sqn.
Ldr. A. G. Malan of South Africa.

LOCK MISSING

Another of the R.A.F.'s most honored pilots also was reported missing today. He is acting Flt.
Lt. E. S. Lock, 21-year-old holder of the D.S.O. and D.F.C. and bar, all awarded by the King at the same time.

Lock was called "Saw-off
Lockie" because he was so short.
He was credited with shooting down 30 German planes, nine of them in one week last September.
His plane was shot down in flames over Britain and he spent three months in a hospital with severe leg wounds, a broken arm and burns. He underwent 15 operations, left the hospital to be decorated at Buckingham Palace and then returned to the hospital for a 16th.

LEGION MEETING

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)
—Canadians must find a place and an opportunity for returned veterans of the present war, Gen.
H. F. McDonald, chairman of the Canadian pensions commission, told delegates to the 12th biennial convention of the Ontario command of the Canadian Legion.

"No apology should be made for considering post-war problems during a war," he continued.
"As we well know it is too totally easy for a country to get into a war, and too difficult for a country to cure evils created by a consideration of post-war problems must embrace war effort "while it is going on."

Consider Action Against Japanese

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver City Council's legal department has been instructed by aldermen to see what action can be taken against Japanese fishing boats which are alleged to have deliberately obstructed the landing at Sea Island of Canadian Airway's Limited planes.

W. E. Gilbert, superintendent of the air lines' Pacific division, complained in a letter to the council that a Japanese fisherman refused to move his boat despite the sounding of a siren warning that the Victoria-Vancouver plane wished to land. He stated there were similar but less serious incidents in the past.

Alderman H. D. Wilson, chairman of the airport committee, suggested that the middle arm of the Fraser River be closed to Japanese fishermen from Mar-pole Bridge to the mouth of the river.

For Japan to Decide

OUT OF THE WELTER OF SPECULATION on the growing tenseness of relations between the English-speaking democracies and the warlords of Tokyo comes a plain announcement from London which warns the Nipponese government that "if Japan wants war in the Pacific, there will be war; if she wants peace, there will be peace." Nothing new or novel will be discovered in this simple statement. The decision rests squarely with Premier Konoye and the naval and military men who dominate his cabinet. Japan's occupation of French Indo-China is a distinct threat to British, American and Dutch interests. It has brought no military reprisals so far. But if the government at Tokyo has made up its mind to follow its bellicose propaganda in respect of Thailand and other vital areas with an activist policy, it is difficult to believe that peace can be preserved in the Pacific.

One of Japan's outspoken militarist dailies is now warning Great Britain and the United States that any further anti-Japanese pressure by them would bring about "nothing but the worst situation," and that Japan will go ahead with grim resolve toward establishment of her sphere in east Asia. The journal in question has a specific warning for the United States, however, but assures the Washington government that Tokyo's policy is being "worked out along peaceful lines," and argues that the neighboring republic would be well advised to approach calmly all questions pertaining to the Far East. It adds that Britain obviously is putting forth "frantic efforts to cause friction between the United States and Japan" and is resorting to all moves to disturb the peace of the Pacific. An echo of these sentiments comes from cabinet spokesman Koh Ishii, who wishes the United States would not send munitions to Russia across the Pacific, because such procedure is causing Nippon "urgent concern."

Other voluminous dispatches from the Far East today are remarkable for their feigned innocence. For the most part, however, they would seem to reflect the nervous condition of the warlords. Japan has taken charge of French Indo-China and very much desires to improve her naval and military position by grabbing Thailand. But the "urgent concern" of which Mr. Ishii speaks, of course, is not so much produced by United States shipments of munitions to the Soviet Union as it is by the uncertainty as to what the democracies would do if the men of Tokyo continue to work out their policy in the Pacific "along peaceful lines." In other words, Japan can order war on Thailand and invite Great Britain, the United States and the Netherlands East Indies to do their worst; or she can try to work out a really peaceful solution of the whole Pacific problem as it presents itself today—by letting well enough alone. It is for her to make the next move.

The Bombing Offensive

WHEN MR. CHURCHILL WARNED HITLER that the day and night offensive—which the Royal Air Force inaugurated more than eight weeks ago—was only "the beginning" of heavier and deeper thrusts into the Reich he was not bluffing or pandering to wishful thinking. He was speaking from the book with all the assurance that he knew the contents of the chapters to come.

Today's daylight raid on the great industrial Rhineland city of Cologne is described in London dispatches as one of the most audacious and heaviest of its kind since the beginning of the war. And what a target this important objective offers to the men of the R.A.F.! For miles around the twin spires of its ancient cathedral, pointing 515 feet into the sky, beckon Britain's fliers. It is to be noted, however, that not a single dispatch from either German or British sources has mentioned any damage to this historic masterpiece of Gothic decoration—despite the fact that the bomber command has visited the community more than three score times. Nor does the huge Hohenzollern bridge—the largest of the Rhine spans—appear to have been seriously injured; mention has occasionally been made of bombs dropped near the approaches. This is all the more extraordinary because the structure itself is less than a quarter of a mile from both the great railway station and the cathedral virtually next door.

But an intensified attack in force in broad daylight would be a strong temptation to plaster bombs where they would do the most damage—and less than a mile from the Hohenzollern bridge is the new postwar Hindenburg bridge, the connecting link which replaced the old bridge-of-boats. Facing the city of Cologne proper, of course, is the industrial city of Deutz, where the bulk of the neighborhood's industrial activity is situated. This latest attack of the R.A.F., therefore, may have an interesting news sequel.

To aid the war effort, we are asked to give any old cooking utensils of aluminum we have around. The old idea was to beat plowshares into swords; now it is pans into panzers.

Mr. Howe Should Explain

TWO WEEKS AGO TONIGHT HON. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions, announced at a press conference in Ottawa that on July 24, 300 men had suddenly seized control of the huge Arvida plant of the Aluminum Company of Canada and had remained "in possession" of the establishment until the following Sunday afternoon. Under instruction from the censor's department, presumably by order of the ministry involved, newspapers suppressed all mention of the incident—of which they had been advised as soon as the "seizure" was presented to the government as a fait accompli. While Mr. Howe took particular pains to assure the assembled newspapermen the trouble had "come out of a blue sky without any advance intimation" as far as he had been able to find out—despite the fact that a serious wage controversy was really at the back of the affair—he was also emphatic in declaring the shutdown was "a suspected case of enemy sabotage," that arrests "definitely will be made, if none have been made already," and that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and other agencies were busy with the necessary investigations.

Early last week Mr. Howe was questioned about developments and asked what, if any, arrests had been made. He is reported to have countered with the assurance that he proposed to hold another press conference shortly at which it would be possible to go further into the matter. There is nothing to indicate the minister has made good his word on this point. Our people have a definite interest in everything related to their war effort, and should be told if the trouble at Arvida was attributable to "enemy sabotage," and if those responsible have been appropriately dealt with. If, on the other hand, investigation has shown that no damage whatever was done to the plant by wilful act, but that the extraordinary and dangerous procedure followed had its origin in a wage dispute which had smouldered for some time, the public should be informed at once. The taxpayers also are entitled to know how it was that news of such grievance, with its dangerous sequel, reached the Department of Munitions and its presiding minister "out of a blue sky."

Nobody has any patience or sympathy with workers in vital munitions industries who deliberately attempt to exploit the present grave emergency entirely for their own ends. Not that any suggestion appears to have been made that the employees of the huge Arvida establishment took the course they are supposed to have taken with any more serious motive than that of drawing official and public attention to certain labor conditions of which Mr. Howe implies he and his department had no advance knowledge. The minister's silence on this aspect of the incident is nevertheless disturbing. None will accuse him of deliberately attempting to cover up what has all the appearances of an unsavory situation; nor is there a disposition to believe that Mr. Howe would cry "enemy sabotage" unless he had at least some ground for such a charge. Until he has shed a great deal more official light on the whole affair than he has so far, however, he must not be surprised at the manifest uneasiness to which newspapers of every shade of political thought all across the Dominion are giving spirited expression.

Ties to Life

WE ARE TIED TO LIFE BY THIN physical cords which sometimes show extraordinary toughness, sometimes snap at a touch. There are other ties, too, binding us to life, ties of eagerness, and curiosity, and love.

Fritz Kreisler, beloved violinist, struck down in the street by an automobile, lingered for weeks between life and death. They brought his violin to the hospital, and when he looked on this loved companion of a lifetime his dull eyes brightened. At first it was enough merely to hold it in his hands.

Then he began again to play, learning, in a sense all over again, the magic skill of old. Now he is recovering. By next year, Kreisler will be playing in concert again, they say. The love of music and his magic violin had helped marvelously to reinforce the strained ties that held him fast to life.

Another advantage of city life is that the neighbors don't know enough to wonder how you can afford to live as you do.

MR. MALCOLM MACDONALD DOES A JOB FOR US

From Ottawa Journal

Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, British High Commissioner to Canada, found himself in Washington over the week-end, called a press conference ("designed to clean up some misconceptions of the Canadian war effort prevalent in the United States"), told it about Canada's part in the war.

Mr. MacDonald did an excellent job; told about the 100,000 Canadian troops now in Britain; explained our military service laws; outlined the Commonwealth Air Training Plan; demolished the lie that Canada compels Britain to "pay cash on the barrel head." All this, in United States headlines yesterday, was to the good.

It was especially to the good, a sort of windfall, seeing that the job of explaining Canada's war effort to Americans isn't exactly Mr. MacDonald's. Indeed, it must strike many in this country as odd that we have to fall back on a British High Commissioner to Canada to explain to Americans what we are doing in this war. To justify and defend us. After all, we have a Minister Plenipotentiary at Washington, and a Legation staff, and a press liaison officer, and we have Canadian cabinet ministers back and forth between Washington and Ottawa. Shouldn't we expect them to at least try to do what Mr. MacDonald, an outlander, has now done, and so well?

SOUNDING BOARD

IT IS CURIOUS how things get about these days and how whispers are echoed on the great sounding board of the world. When the enemies of Premier King, who are numerous, shout that Canada is not pulling its weight in the war, they probably intend their remarks to be heard only by Canadians, and imagining that only Mr. King will suffer, they intentionally exaggerate their complaints until, to hear some people talk, you would think Canada was doing nothing whatever.

But now it appears that nothing said in public, and very little in private, is missed by our friends and especially by our enemies. Thus we find Mr. John L. Lewis, most powerful of isolationists and most bitter of Britain haters, telling a committee of the United States Congress that Canada's effort in the war is "at best lackadaisical." Therefore, if the senior partner of Britain is doing nothing, why should the United States bother itself?

Obviously this is very damaging to us and to Britain in the United States. It is what Mr. Churchill called "meat and drink to the United States isolationists." But there are many men in Canada who don't care what they say, so long as it hurts Mr. King. Some of them are quite sincere. They think Mr. King such an evil that they would even make enemies for us in the United States, they would even embarrass Mr. Churchill if they could unload the Canadian Prime Minister. Well, they are wasting a lot of valuable energy. There is no sign of Mr. King being unloaded at the moment.

LONG TERM

INSTEAD, Mr. King has just marked the 22nd anniversary of his party leadership. He has dominated the public life of Canada for 21 years, being out of office only five years since 1921, a record unparalleled in the world. It is not an unblemished record. It is not an exciting record. There has been no glamour in it; less, in fact, than in Mr. Bennett's five years; but Mr. Bennett's glamour was rather too costly in money, poverty and human misery.

The chief thing wrong with Mr. King's 21 years is that Mr. King has been too much like us. He has reflected the Canadian people as accurately as a fine mirror. He has duplicated every change in our expression, and every mood and whim. He has given us just what a majority of us wanted and while he never pleased anyone, he achieved a compromise which the majority would grudgingly accept, year after year. If we wanted democracy, we got it from Mr. King.

For the sake of this country and for his reputation in history it would have been better if Mr. King had refused to reflect us so accurately, for it turns out now that in the last 20 years we have seldom been right about anything. If Mr. King had told us once or twice that we were quite wrong and we had better get a new government because he was going out to Kingsmere to grow cabbages until we got some sense, then he would have towered far higher in history.

We might have called him back in the crisis, as the British called back Mr. Churchill. Again, we might not have, and Mr. King was taking no chances. To be successful in politics, one should take no chances. To be a great figure in history one must be prepared to lose one's political life daily and must lose it just once in order to save it again later.

NO ALTERNATIVE

BUT LOOKING at the 22nd anniversary of Mr. King's leadership of the Liberal Party, you are struck more by another fact, namely that in all this period Canada produced no real alternative to him, not one. Mr. Bennett appeared like an alternative, but after five years he was completely washed up and even left this country in disgust. And who was there besides Mr. Bennett? Not one man. Not one.

Never has a democratic country been so barren of yield. The Canadian character has lain fallow now since the last war, and perhaps the exhaustion of the last war was one of the chief reasons for it. The big reason, however, is that the brains of Canada have not gone into politics for the last generation. The war-weary, disillusioned generation that lived between the wars had lost its faith in everything but a wisecrack and certainly had none in government. Its best men went in for making money and made it. In a big way, until the Depression. Even then it never occurred to them that the only way out was through better government.

We came to the eve of this war with the best men still contemptuous of politics, still staying out, and we entered the war, both in Ottawa and in all provincial politics, with mediocrity enthroned. It is still enthroned and over it a man like Mr. King, with his great gifts, towers like a giant, for there is no competition whatever, no rival, no alternative.

Don't blame Mr. King. He is not the Canadian nation. He cannot produce great rivals and alternatives. They can come only out of the body of Canada, but they will not come so long as government is regarded as a side-issue and business as the main and most respectable pursuit of life. We have got in two decades of Mr. King precisely what we deserved, no better, no worse.

TOO MUCH "NEVER MORE"

We should be careful to get out of an experience only the wisdom that is in it—and stop there; lest we be like the cat that sits down on the hot stove-lid. She will never sit down on a hot stove-lid again—and that is well; but also she will never sit down on a cold one any more.—Mark Twain.

"Stay at home with your summer cold," says a doctor. We'd prefer leaving it there alone.

THE GOVERNMENT FOLLOWS

ONE DISTRUSTS statistics as the best guide to full truth. For instance, one could argue from figures that as Canada is spending as much in one year as she spent in the whole four years of the last war that our current war effort is much more effective.

Yet what really matters is what you get for your money, what you have on some firing line somewhere.

In one respect Canada's effort in this war is already far more useful than what we did in the last war. That is on the sea, where our once much-ridiculed Canadian Navy has done an all too little understood share in turning the tide in the Battle of the Atlantic.

In another respect Canada's war effort might yet succeed in swinging the whole balance in this war. Most of the men who will shoot Nazi planes from the skies, and blast Nazi factories from the earth, will be Canadians. If the war goes into another year. In the last war Canada supplied 24,095 men of all ranks to the Royal Air Force, of whom 10,000 were still in Canada at the end of the war. Already there are 55,000 Canadians in the aviation service. At the peak 80 per cent of the personnel turned out by the Commonwealth Training Scheme will be Canadians. That means an output of some 24,000 actual flying fighting airmen per year—with all the other necessary thousands to stand behind them or below them on the ground.

The actual fighting Canadian army, available for service at the fighting front, wherever that may prove to be, is now approximately of the same strength as was the Canadian Corps at the same period in the last war.

REAL DIFFERENCE

Not long ago I wanted to make sure that it was not just my imagination which said that there was a world of difference between the way this government has run this war, and the way the other one was conducted. Poring over the old official histories of that conflict, I could hardly tear myself away. Every time I read the utterances of the late Sam Hughes I have to laugh. I am convinced that he is one of the best subjects for a really vital biography ever written about a Canadian. An astounding mixture of genius and circus man.

But there is one general difference which will strike anyone who compares the two struggles. In the first war the government gave whatever it was able to give in the way of inspiration and leadership to the people. It was ahead of them, not behind them. It did not stand between the people and a demand for action. On more than one occasion, indeed, I found documentary evidence of the fact that the Canadian government was holding out for a larger war effort against the opinions of the professionals in the British Army Council, who doubted Canada's ability to deliver the goods.

In this war the government has never seemed to be able to make up its mind.

It asks the people "Please do not waste so much gasoline, as we need it for our planes and tanks." Apparently it fails to hear the reply from coast to coast, in the weekly press at least, "Well, get busy and ration it. What are you waiting for?"

It asks people not to eat so much pork—and fails simply to take all the pork needed in Britain without any further ado.

It knows perfectly well that within six months there must be a showdown on the manpower allotment question, yet does nothing even to prepare the people for that showdown.

If the war goes on the same thing will surely happen again as has happened before. Public dissatisfaction will suddenly and violently boil up. It will continue to do so as long as the war lasts, in keeping with events, unless the government gets ahead of the procession, not behind it.

RESPECT FOR THE UNIFORM

From Peoria Journal-Transcript

We are informed by Congressman Everett M. Dirksen that on April 7 a bill was introduced in the United States Senate which bears the title: "An act to protect the dignity and honor of the uniform of the United States." The measure, in substance, says that no railroad, hotel, theatre, restaurant or place of amusement or entertainment shall deny to any person who wears the uniform of the military, or naval services of this country the equal and full privileges of such places. Any person in uniform who may be debarrd from such privileges can institute court action to collect actual damages plus $100. It also makes unlawful the casting of contempt on any person in military or naval uniform, and makes such an offence punishable by a fine not to exceed $500.

The Peoria Congressman says the bill came into being because a sergeant, in uniform, took his girl friend into a prominent hotel dining-room for dinner. The sergeant claimed the waiter not only refused to serve them but also heaped abuse upon them and freely asserted that men in uniform were not wanted as patrons of the hotel's fancy dining-room. The soldier reported the affair to the General Record of Maryland. The general was furious, demanded and secured apologies, and suggested the bill.

It is, of course, ridiculous that such a law should be necessary. It is ridiculous that any public place in a democracy should attempt to bar even the humblest private or the humblest job in the service of the nation. The measure should pass. But it is tragic that any need for it should exist. The attitude that makes such a law necessary is aid and comfort to Adolf Hitler.

ARVIDA AGAIN

From Toronto Telegram

In the long delay while all news was suppressed, Mr. Howe and the government were able to throw together some sort of an alibi and to construct corroborative details to support the alibi. Mr. Howe gave the correspondents a lot of information in the way of excuse of government inaction; the most important part of this information was palpably false and the rest of it was suspect.

2. What is the correct pronunciation of "etiquette"?
3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Reconciliation, reconcoiler, recompense.
4. What does the word "prophetic" mean?
5. What is a word beginning with ma that means "wishing evil"?

Answers

1. Say, "The store was filled with customers." 2. Pronounce et-i-keet, both e's as in bet, i as in it, accent first syllable. 3. Reconcoiler. 4. Foretelling events. (Pronounce pro-fet-ik, accent second syllable.) "His words bore a prophetic significance." 5. Malevolent.

A MINISTER'S ALIBIS

From Vancouver Province

In spite of his anxiety to be first before the public with his story of the Arvida strike, Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, comes out of the controversy with damaged prestige.

The minister said, in his statement issued when the strike was five days old, that there had been no labor difficulties at the Arvida plant, the greatest of Canada's war industries, whereas all the evidence goes to show that there had been unrest for a long time. The minister suggested, too, that the stoppage of work had been due to sabotage, but, in the subsequent inquiry, so far as has been disclosed, no evidence of sabotage came out. Mr. Howe now admits that there had been labor unrest. He produces no proof of sabotage. Yet he will not withdraw his accusation or even admit that his statement was unfair.

City Council Topics

Peacocks and Parking Must Be Reconsidered

Recommendation of the City Council public works committee that parking be restricted to one hour on both sides of Yates Street between Blanshard and Quadra Streets was referred back to the committee by the council yesterday after discussion.

A petition from occupants of business premises on the block, asking either that parking be left unrestricted or that the limit be set at two hours, was read to the council. The petition was claimed to represent the views of more than 80 per cent of the occupants.

Alderman Edward Williams, chairman of the public works committee, explained that a different recommendation might have been made had the committee first seen the petition.

Approval was given the fire wardens' recommendation that an insurance policy for 100 volunteer firemen be taken out. The city will try to enlist 100 men between 20 and 50 years of age as volunteer firefighters. This force, Alderman Archie Wills explained, will not encroach on the duties of Air Raid Precaution members, but in case of emergency will be supplementary to the regular fire-fighting force of the city. The volunteers, who may apply to the fire chief, will take training once a week in classes of 10.

The policy considered by the fire wardens provides for payment of $3,000 in event of death, $25 a week for disability and certain hospitalization costs. The premium for 100 men is $450 a year.

A petition from Mrs. C. M. Forest, proprietress of Tweedsmuir Mansions, and 40 others asking that peacocks and cranes be moved from Beacon Hill Park was referred to the parks committee, with the recommendation from Ald. Wills that the number of these birds, now in the neighborhood of 40, be reduced experimentally to 10 or less.

The petitioners complained that the cries of the birds could be heard hundreds of yards away, starting early in the morning, and shattering the sleep of nearby residents.

"When they make a noise, they really do make a noise," admitted Alderman S. H. Okell, chairman of the parks committee. The suggestion was made that the birds might be wanted at Elk Lake or Butchart's Gardens.

"Take them to Saanich," said Mayor McGavin. "Let them amuse the people there."

Also referred to the parks committee was a letter from the Stewart & Hudson Lumber Yard, thanking the council for experimentally painting telephone poles in the neighborhood. This letter was accompanied by a suggestion from council members that the experiment be extended.

"We feel that this experiment has been very economical and very well received," said Alderman B. J. Gadsden. "I think we should decide whether to carry on with this policy."

The council endorsed a resolution commending Hon. John Hart, Provincial Finance Minister, and Hon. C. S. Leary, Minister of Public Works, for their efforts in having the Island Highway widened and improved and thus bringing tourist trade southward to Victoria, benefitting the city and also improving the boulevard, curb and roadway on Menzies Street.

R. Rowan appeared before the council to protest against reduction of the length of a taxi stand at Broad and Yates Streets to 20 feet, so that only one car could be parked. The matter was referred to the public works committee.

Alderman W. H. Davies was delegated to attend a combined outing of the Chamber of Commerce and Real Estate Board of Victoria at Salt Spring Island on August 12 as official representative of the city.

Claims of James W. Tanner for $89.25 compensation for injuries allegedly received on the city garbage wharf on July 16 was referred to Mayor McGavin and Alderman Williams, with power to act.

A half holiday for city employees on August 16 was granted so that the employees might attend their annual picnic. The city also granted the Civic Employees' Federation $100 toward the cost of the outing.

Recommendation of the Board of Police Commissioners that the space between yellow lines painted to mark traffic lanes be blocked in with white lines was received and filed, over the objection of Alderman W. H. Davies, who said he had seen the idea used effectively in the United States.

James Darcy, a garbage department employee, was granted superannuation. Mr. Darcy explained in his request for superannuation that he was in ill health.

The council decided to refer to next year's council all requests for a wartime bonus from city employees and all requests for wage increases from city employees earning more than $125 a month.

Aldermen Gadsden, Dewar and Worthington were named delegates to the annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at Harrison Hot Springs. The mayor and one additional alderman also will attend the convention.

Recommendation of Alderman Archie Wills that the public works committee make a survey to determine the cost of maintaining clear traffic direction lines on the downtown streets was approved.

The fire chief was authorized to attend the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs' Convention at Reno and to invite City of London Fire Department representatives to the convention to visit Victoria.

Purchase of a siren for a city fire truck at a cost of $80 or less was approved.

Sale of six pieces of city property was authorized. The city accepted an offer of $50 for a lot on Dalton Street between Esquimalt Road and Wilson Street; $50 for a lot on Lang Street between Cedar Hill Road and Cook Street; $125 for a lot on Somers Street between Quamichan Street and Gonzales Avenue; $125 for a lot on Fifth Street between Tolmie and Finlayson Avenues; $125 for a lot on Richmond Avenue between Quamichan Street and a lane, and $300 for improved property between Caledonia and North Park Streets on Blanshard Street.

The council accepted a tender of Diggon-Hibben Ltd. of three and one-half cents a name for printing and binding the voters' list for 1941-42.

Suggestion by Cecil French that a by-law amendment be made to further curb unnecessary noise in the city was referred to the chief of police.

The lands committee was asked to consider a request from P. J. Sinnott that an order for the removal of cleaning and pressing machinery at 501 Burnside Road be rescinded.

A claim of Mrs. Disney for injuries allegedly received in a fall on Fairfield Road was referred to the public works committee and city solicitor.

Authority was granted the city engineer to install a six-inch water meter for the Victoria Machinery Depot Company Ltd., at the Outer Wharf at a cost of $780. The company will pay a service charge of $22.50 a month and $210 toward the cost.

Alderman Dewar urged the aged men's home committee to consider listing for sale property adjacent to the home. Alderman Davies said a report was being compiled.

A tender of J. Arendell to demolish an old building at 727 Figgard Street and pay the city $16 was accepted.

Anscomb Thinks Prospects Good

Herbert Anscomb, who will carry the Conservative standard in Oak Bay in the provincial general election, told a meeting of Oak Bay Conservative Association last night that voters of the province want a change of government.

He said Conservative prospects for the campaign look "very good."

Arrangements for checking up on the new voters' list now being compiled in Oak Bay were discussed. G. F. Salmon, secretary, said Conservative election commissioners would meet when the official list is compiled at the end of the month and would have two or three weeks in which to check on any who have been missed.

New Phone Unit Ready in Few Days

Owing to the extent of telephone growth in Victoria, the two existing dial units "Garden" and "Empire" have reached their capacity and a third unit to be known as "Capital" is about to be opened. This is announced by C. C. Simpson, district manager of the British Columbia Telephone Company, who says that the first of the "Capital" numbers will come into use in the next few days. Mr. Simpson points out that anyone calling a "Capital" number will dial the letter "C" and then the four figures of the number. The equipment for the new dial unit has been installed in the telephone central office on Blanshard Street.

SAVINGS PLANS COMPLETE

A reorganized Greater Victoria War Savings Committee has now completed plans for more intensive promotion of war savings here during the fall and winter, to meet the increased quota set by the national committee at Ottawa.

Members of the reorganized committee are F. E. Winslow, chairman; Mrs. Helen Hurn, secretary; Duncan MacBride, Percy Richards, C. W. Pangman, G. H. Gardner, W. Straith, R. A. C. Dewar, J. V. Johnson, Hubert Lethaby, Dr. S. J. Willis, Denis Hagar, Jack Barraclough, Kenneth Drury, Frank Mulliner and Rev. A. E. Whitehouse.

At a recent meeting Mr. Gardner reported $152,000 worth of war savings stamps had been supplied through the local post office to postal sub-offices in the city and at other points on the island, exclusive of Nanaimo, which is supplied from Vancouver, since the inauguration of the war savings campaign a year ago.

Chris Spencer of Vancouver will attend a meeting of provincial war savings committee chairmen in Ottawa on August 15, and G. N. Stacey of Vancouver will attend a meeting of provincial administrators in Winnipeg on August 20, it has been announced. At both these meetings details of the fall and winter campaign will be discussed.

Gladioli, Dahlias On Show Saturday

The Victoria Horticultural Society will stage its fourth flower show of the 1941 season at the Crystal Garden next Saturday. The show will open at noon and close about 9:15 p.m. with an auction of the flowers which have been on display.

The show will feature gladioli and dahlias, both of which are in excellent bloom at this season, and, in addition, there will also be classes for chrysanthemums, asters, lilies, marigolds and other seasonal flowers.

Classes are also provided for fruits and vegetables. Judging will be done by M. O. Mayhew, W. Elder and Albert Smith, who will judge the open classes of flowers, fruits and vegetables, and the artistic arrangement classes will be judged by Mrs. D. D. McTavish and Mrs. M. O. Mayhew.

Several fine commercial displays of gladioli and dahlias are expected, and the show promises to be one of the outstanding successes of the season.

SEEING-EYE DOG GUIDES BLIND MAN

Roy P. Thompson and his "seeing-eye" dog, Wanda.

Roy P. Thompson of Calgary, formerly of this city, is back in Victoria for a short visit with his "seeing-eye" dog, Wanda. Mr. Thompson is supervisor of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in southern Alberta.

He is proud of Wanda, a five-year-old police dog who has guided him through city traffic for three and a half years, and Wanda is no less devoted to him. The animal was trained at the "Seeing-Eye School" at Morris-town, New Jersey, the only institution of its kind on the continent, starting her three-months' course when one year old.

When she was ready Mr. Thompson went to Morris-town and took a month's course with the dog. Wanda is one of eight "seeing-eye" dogs in Canada and one of over 400 on the continent.

The only traffic commands she needs are, forward, left and right, and if there is danger that her master cannot hear but she can see, she will not budge although given any order. She has been trained to stop at all curbs and will not cross an intersection until all is clear. Mr. Thompson holds on to a stiff handle attached to the animal's harness rather than a leash, so that when she stops the sensation will be immediately conveyed to him.

Wanda, because of the work she does, is given privileges that do not come to the ordinary dog. She is allowed to travel on street cars, trains and airplanes and is allowed in all public buildings. She attends church, lodge and Rotary luncheons with her master.

Dragged By Horse, Indian Killed

Provincial police here reported the death yesterday of Alvin Mike of the St. Mary's Band of Indians when he fell from his horse and was dragged along the road about a mile from Cranbrook.

Mike was dead when discovered at the side of the road. Investigation showed he had been dragged by his horse for a considerable distance. The horse was found in the bush nearby still saddled.

Country Fair at Sidney Tomorrow

A country fair under the patronage of His Honor E. W. Amber, Lieutenant-Governor, will be held tomorrow at the Experimental Station, Sidney, commencing at 2 o'clock.

The fair is under the auspices of the North Saanich branch, Canadian Legion, and proceeds will be divided between the Lord Mayor's Fund and the Brentwood and North Saanich units of the Canadian Red Cross.

All the local organizations in the north and south Saanich districts are co-operating and stalls will be run as follows: Candy, South Saanich Women's Institute; household necessities, Brentwood Women's Institute; cakes and cookies, Brentwood Red Cross; bread and rolls, North Saanich Red Cross; pies, Endeavor Chapter, I.O.D.E.; jams and jellies and pickles, Allies Chapter, I.O.D.E.; mystery stall, Sidney Business Men's Association; cut flowers, St. Andrew's Guild; boutonnières, Girl Guides; refreshments, North Saanich Service Club; hot dogs, North Saanich branch, Canadian Legion; teas, W.A. North Saanich branch; rifle range, F. J. Baker.

The band of the R.C.A.F. will play during the afternoon and a public address system will be in operation. In addition there will be various kinds of amusements. The official opening will be at 3 and will be performed by Brigadier J. G. Austin.

A special bus will leave the Vancouver Coach Lines depot for the fair grounds.

JOB FOR HOLT

MAJOR ANDREW HOLT, son of Sir Herbert Holt of Montreal, has been appointed by the British Ministry of Supply to clear away the estimated 1,000,000 tons of scrap iron and steel girders from bombed buildings in England.

OPENS NEW SHELTER

MRS. JOHN WINANT, wife of the United States ambassador to Great Britain, opened a new air raid shelter in Battersea, London. The shelter was paid for from an American subscription fund and was equipped by an American youth organization.

BEGINNING OF END

Joseph E. Davies, former United States ambassador to Russia, said in Los Angeles: "Hitler's first big mistake was when he double-crossed Josef Stalin and invaded Russia." He told a luncheon group "it is the beginning of the end."

WINDSORS TO U.S.

The New York Times said the DUKE and DUCHESS OF WINDSOR would travel through the United States this autumn on their way to visit the Duke's ranch near High River, Alta.

Although the Windsors have made three trips to Florida since their arrival in the Bahamas a year ago, they had not passed through any other part of the United States.

COOGAN IN CAMP

JACKIE COOGAN returned to his job of soldiering at Ford Ord, Cal. He was six hours late after his surprise marriage to 19-year-old Flower Parry of Hollywood.

Because he was late he was assigned to kitchen police duty. Another job was driving a jeep, a tiny scout car.

"This marriage is going to work," Coogan said.

Coogan, 26, formerly was married to actress Betty Grable. Their marriage ended in divorce in 1939.

"Right now," he said, between washing dishes, "all I am interested in is being a good soldier."

GREENE WILL WORK

RICHARD GREENE, Hollywood actor who went to England to enlist after he came to Victoria a year ago and couldn't get in the Canadian army, will make a picture for 20th Century-Fox in London, if permission can be obtained from the British government. In all probability it will be the film version of Erle Knight's best seller, "This Above All."

GOING TO ENGLAND

PREMIER MITCHELL F. HEPBURN of Ontario said in St. Catharines he has offered to resign as Premier of Ontario and leader of the provincial Liberal Party and go to England to engage in war work as assistant to J. P. Bickell, who holds a high executive post in the Ministry of Aircraft Production.

"I am awaiting word," Hepburn said. "I am prepared to resign my office and go as a private citizen, if Ottawa would like that better, or to name a successor agreeable to the Liberal Party who would be acting premier. I am not particular how I go over."

The Premier said that when word comes "I'll go without delay."

THEY LIKE VICTORIA

After three months' vacation in Victoria with her daughter, Phyllis, Mrs. U. A. Mews of Belleville, Ont., offers some complimentary opinions on the city.

Both admire the hanging flower baskets. Fence-enclosed homes, with roses and flowers around them, they find pleasing and the beaches alluring.

"We have been impressed by the courteous manner of the people," said Mrs. Mews. But with all the favorable impressions there was one objection. The litter of papers, cigarette packages and scraps of paper on the streets was a surprise to the two visitors.

Audubon tried bird banding in 1803, marking young phoebes with a silver thread around the leg.

Rheumatic PAIN

"For nine years I suffered from rheumatic pain so severely that at times I could not walk. Often days passed before I could go back to work." With these words Mrs. E. Moreau, 987 City Hall St., Montreal, describes her terrible condition before she took Templeton's T-B-C's. "When, at last, I began taking T-B-C's," she continued, "I felt immediate relief from pains which were like such severe burns that it was hard to stand contact with stockings." Weddings

MOSS—SHADFORTH

Capt. and Mrs. Percy Shadforth, 438 Dallas Road, announce the marriage of their only daughter, Ella Margaret, to Cpl. Robert Estcourt (Bobby) Moss, R.C.A. S.C., only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Moss, 3369 Cook Street. The wedding took place quietly at noon Saturday at the Church of Our Lord, Rev. G. H. Scarrett performing the ceremony. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for a few intimate friends. The bride looked charming in a rose-beige dress with beige accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and cream roses. For a motor trip up-island the bride wore a llama wool coat with wolf collar over her wedding ensemble. On their return Cpl. and Mrs. Moss will make their home in Vancouver.

HUNTER—McCRINDLE

The marriage took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McCrindle of their elder daughter, Nancy Stuart, to Sub-Lieutenant William Robert Hunter, R.C. N.V.R., eldest son of Capt. and Mrs. R. Hunter of Vancouver. The couple went on a wedding trip to Waterton Lakes, Alta., before continuing to Vancouver.

The bride was educated in Cranbrook and for the past few years has been with the Post Office staff. The groom graduated from the University of British Columbia and for the past two years has been with the high school staff in Cranbrook. He has obtained leave of absence from the school to serve with the navy.

WALTERS—VAN BERGEN

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the presence of relatives and immediate friends on Friday evening at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. G. A. Reynolds, when Elsie E. Van Bergen, fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Bergen of Black Creek, Vancouver Island, was united in marriage to Leading Signaller William A. Walters, R.C.N., eldest son of Mrs. H. Walters, 1153 Johnson Street, Victoria.

The attractive bride wore a dress fashioned of pale blue net with a long full skirt and jacket embroidered with pink silk roses and large picture hat with wide streamers under the chin, and carried an arm bouquet of blush pink roses and fern. Her only ornament was a money bracelet, a gift from the groom. Mr. Leslie Walters, R.C.N., supported his brother.

The reception was held at the home of the groom's mother, where pastel shades of gladioli predominated throughout the house. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake topped with a tiny silver wedding bell and flanked with pale pink summer flowers. Mrs. Walters was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. F. J. Martens, Rev. Reynolds proposed the toast. For traveling the bride chose a navy blue silk ensemble with touches of white and wore a corsage of gardenias. After spending the honeymoon on the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Walters will take up temporary residence in Victoria before leaving for Halifax.

Mrs. Walters, before her marriage, was for some time on the staff at the St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox.

Matron-in-Chief Of Women's Army Here This Week

Miss Elizabeth Smellie, matron-in-chief of the Canadian Army Nursing Sisters, will leave Ottawa by plane Thursday morning for Victoria. From here she will begin a tour of all military districts in Canada in connection with the organization of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps.

Miss Smellie will accept no invitations to any social function. It is strictly an official tour, which she is anxious to complete as soon and as thoroughly as possible.

It is not a recruiting tour. No women will be interviewed in this sense. The tour deals more with matters of policy so that each district may be given a clear picture of the situation as it exists in Ottawa and how the new corps is understood there.

The first requisition for 830 women was based on information from military district headquarters, who have been asked to state the number of women they could employ. Miss Smellie will further discuss these needs with the district officers commanding.

No formal itinerary has been set.

India has about 352,000,000 people, of whom more than 22,000,000 are aboriginal tribes types.

MR. PHILIP GEORGE C. MACNEILL

MISS MARGARET ELLEN RANCE

Sergeant and Mrs. E. T. Rance, 2553 Prior Street, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Margaret Ellen, to Mr. Philip George Collier MacNeill, second son of Mrs. G. W. C. MacNeill, 2276 Cadboro Bay Road, and the late Major G. W. C. MacNeill. The wedding will take place at St. John's Church, August 30, at 8.30 o'clock.

Social and Personal

Miss Peggy Durnford is expected from Montreal today to visit her aunts, the Misses Lena and Muriel Galt, St. Charles Street.

Miss F. M. Aitken and her mother, Mrs. G. Aitken, have left Ganges to spend two weeks at Cadboro Bay, where they are guests of Miss C. A. Lees.

Mrs. John R. Totten, who has been spending the last five weeks at the Empress Hotel, is leaving for her home in New York this afternoon.

Mrs. Alfred Woodcroft entertained at tea this afternoon in honor of Lady Burdon, O.B.E., who is making her home in Victoria for the duration of the war.

After two weeks' visit to Vesuvius Bay, Mr. Hartshorne and his two daughters, the Misses Diana and Flora Hartshorne, have returned to their home on Joseph Street.

Miss Grace Sideau entertained a few of her friends recently for her departure for her home in Edmonton, having been a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Munro, for the past three weeks.

Miss Jean Jungbluth, San Francisco, who has been visiting in the city with Mrs. Luther Holly, Burbank, California, has now returned to Seattle to stay with friends before continuing south. Mrs. Holly and son, Michael, are staying with her mother, Mrs. Robert Gillespie, 71 Beach Drive.

Mrs. T. H. Hay of the staff of the Provincial Normal School, Regina, accompanied by her son, John Hay, a first-year medical student at the University of Saskatchewan, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. S. A. Young, Vancouver, spent the week-end in Victoria renewing old friendships. Mrs. Hay, a former national president of the Catholic Women's League, visited Victoria and the Island four years ago.

Attending the weekly supper-dance at the Empress Hotel Saturday night were Judge and Mrs. F. Thompson of Newark, Delaware, with a small party; Mr. H. F. Ford with party of 12 and Mr. W. Clement with party of nine. Increasingly popular with out-of-town visitors is the dinner-dance held every night in the Tudor Grill, an innovation undertaken to entertain the unusual numbers of summer tourists to Victoria.

Miss Margaret Smith, whose marriage to Sub-Lieutenant F. Gray, R.C.N.V.R., will take place Saturday, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Margaret Jordan and Mrs. W. G. Watkiss at the latter's home on Meares Street Sunday evening.

The bride-to-be was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. The many attractive gifts were concealed behind a rose and silver decorated parasol. Winners of the contest played during the evening were Miss Enid Bates and Miss Violet Harrison. Refreshments were served by Misses Margaret Jordan and Edna Watkiss. The invited guests were Mesdames Warren Smith, Nina D. Gray, E. J. Fatt, H. West, G. McIntosh, D. Lanning, L. Howard, C. Slaggett, and Misses Patsy Smith, Mary Hall, Margaret and Marjorie Cook, Mae Jordan, Doris and Lillian Dumbleton, Doris Fowler, Edna Watkiss, Rose Webb, Lillian Grant, Thelma Woolston, Enid Bates, Thelma Minto, Violet Harrison and Evelyn Irvine.

Miss Frances Dutton has returned to Victoria after visiting Mrs. Godfrey Isaacs, Oyama, B.C.

Lieut. J. W. Tharratt, R.C.N., Ottawa, is spending a few days leave at his home on Portage Inlet.

Mrs. Stanley Crook (nee Ruth Bennett) was honored recently at a shower given by Mrs. Jack O'Connor, Millgrove Street. The bride received many useful gifts, and games and contests were enjoyed during the evening. Refreshments were served. Those present were Mesdames R. Bennett, T. Anderson, W. McKinnon, A. Shipway, Ray Bennett, J. Politano, A. Armstrong, R. Livey, S. Sweetnam, S. Crook and J. O'Connor. Misses Ethel Speller, Grace Sweetnam, Mary Dale, Florence McKinnon, Ada Woolnough, Barbara and Mary Lou Armstrong.

In honor of Miss Aline Chaloufour, graduate in political science and a doctor of law from the University of Paris, and Miss Dorothy Punderson, founder of the Camp Francais, Strathcona Lodge, Shawinigan, friends entertained at the tea hour yesterday afternoon in the Empress Hotel. Miss Chaloufour, a guest at the Camp Francais, recently arrived from Dalat (Annam), Indo-China, where she worked preparing students for their baccalaureate in the new Convent des Oiseaux, of Dalat, from 1938 to 1941. She also lectured for the Alliance Francaise at Bangkok, Thailand, and in various cities of Java. She accompanied a Thai delegation of university students through an interesting voyage in Siam, Cambodia, Cochinchina, and since coming to Canada has been lecturing at the Camp Francais. Miss Punderson, from St. Paul, Minnesota, is a B.A. of Vassar College and an M.A. of the University of Chicago. She did graduate work at Bryn Mawr College and the University of Minnesota, and at present is Minnesota state supervisor of women's projects of the National Youth Administration of the federal government.

In honor of Miss Davina Dingwall, whose marriage to Mr. James Martyn will take place on September 6, Miss Kathleen Burnett entertained last evening at a kitchen shower at her home, North Quadra Street. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. D. W. Burnett. A corsage bouquet of roses and fern was presented to the bride-to-be and to her mother was given a spray of carnations and fern. Miss Betty Dingwall, sister of the guest of honor, presented the many gifts in a "ship of joy" decorated in a color scheme of pink and white. Flowers in the reception rooms carried out a similar color scheme and the refreshment table was arranged with a Madeira-work cloth, with a centerpiece of a crystal bowl of swainsons and gypsophila, surrounded by pastel-shaded tapers on a table mirror. Mrs. G. C. Dingwall poured coffee and Mrs. G. Lovitt poured tea. Assisting in serving were Mrs. G. R. Laird and Miss Kathleen Burnett, her niece, and Misses Grace Stuart and Bernadette Corcoran. The guests were Mesdames G. C. Dingwall, G. Lovitt, G. R. Laird, R. Sales, J. Harbord Harbord, D. W. Burnett, John McTavish, and Misses Zelma Wille, Helen Knox, Adrienne Mellor, Mary-Lou Bryant, Pat Fitzpatrick, Grace Stuart, Bernadette Corcoran, Doreen King, Georgina Dowdall, Evelyn Wells, Marjorie Delf, Jessie Jean McDowell and Betty Dingwall.

Miss Ora Jealous, who is to be married to Mr. Ramond Ledyard of Sturgis, Michigan, at the end of this month, was the guest of honor at a surprise shower August 5 held at the home of Mrs. Lewis Bryden-Smith, Twin Alders, Langford Lake. A picnic supper was enjoyed on the lawn after which the bride-to-be was presented with a corsage of pink roses and a complete set of cream and green kitchen utensils. The remainder of the evening was spent swimming and playing games. About 35 guests were present, including the members of the Young Women's Missionary Class of Oakland's Gospel Hall.

Honoring the attendants at their wedding 33 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Handley, 2541 Cranmore Road, entertained on their 33rd wedding anniversary Sunday night, cutting the top layer of their original wedding cake made in Victoria. Mrs. Handley received her guests in a champagne-tinted lace evening gown, the drawing-room and dinner table being decorated with bowls of French marigolds and carnations. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Sandwith, Mrs. M. Christiansen and Miss Janet Christiansen, all of Bellingham; Mrs. Hannah Jensen, Friday Harbor; Mr. J. J. Fleming, Victoria. Mrs. Jensen and Mr. Sandwith are the hostess's sister and brother and were bridesmaid and best man at the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Kelly, 341 Dune Street, entertained Saturday evening in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Richard Myers (nee Enid Rae Kelly), whose marriage took place in Vancouver last month and who will leave with her husband Monday to live at Powell River. The house was decorated with white streamers and bowls of pink and mauve asters. Among the beautiful gifts received by the bride was a wedding cake, the gift of her aunt, Mrs. Agnes Stancil, and an elderdown, the gift of fellow-employees at the New Method Laundry. Mr. J. G. Kelly, uncle of the bride, proposed a toast to his niece, and the guests enjoyed games and dancing. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sage, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Carlow Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Carlow Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Dean Tubman, Mr. and Mrs. Ovilia La Londe, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Jones, Mrs. Agnes Stancil, Mr. and Mrs. P. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. George Shingles, Sgt. and Mrs. Bert Drysdale, Mrs. Ruth Neil, Mrs. Hazel Lansdale, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stancil, Mrs. Peggy Corbin, Mrs. Irene Best, Mrs. Evelyn Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Dave McCready, Mr. Len Pitt, Messrs. Make Better Jams and Jellies

it gives SURE RESULTS

- Short Boil Saves Time and Effort.
- More Jam or Jelly from the Same Amount of Fruit.
- Natural Fresh Taste and Colour.
- No Fear of Failures.

CERTO
Makes All Fruits
Jell Perfectly
Quick—Easy—Economical

Certo Shortens Boiling Time—For jam you need only a one-minute to two-minute full, rolling boil—for jelly only a half minute to a minute.
More Jam or Jelly—So very little juice has time to boil away that you get up to one half more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.
Better Taste and Colour—In this short boil the fresh flavour stays in the fruit; the natural colour is not darkened or spoiled.
No Failures—If you follow the Certo recipes exactly there'll be no failures. Your jams and jellies will turn out right.

3 out of 4 Jam and Jelly Champions use CERTO
Mrs. N. S. McMillan of Rosalind, Alta.—Prize-winner at Camrose Exhibition, writes—"I always use Certo in my prize-winning jams and jellies. It is so quick and so sure."

MAKE CROQUETTES FROM LEFTOVERS OF ROASTS

ADD the right sauce when you mix them and your croquettes will have a rich, savoury flavour. Here's a good recipe: Mince two cupfuls of leftover roast. Add half cup of bread crumbs, one cup mashed potatoes, one egg, pinch of thyme or sage and a tablespoonful of H. P. Sauce. Mix well; shape into balls; dust with flour, and fry. Nobody will guess your croquettes are made from a cold roast because the H. P. Sauce acts like a liquid seasoning and makes them unusually appetizing. You'll agree that a sauce which can add so much flavour must be extra good. And so it is. Try H. P. Sauce for richer flavour in stews, meat loaf, gravy, soup, fried meats and fish—sandwiches and salads.

Bishop Edward Bidwell Dies in England

THETFORD, Eng. (CP)—Rev. Edward J. Bidwell, Anglican Bishop of Ontario from 1917 until 1926, is dead here.

Since 1936, when he returned to Britain, where he was born in 1866, he had been assistant Bishop of Canterbury.

He became headmaster of Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, Que., in 1903, and six years later, Dean of Ontario and rector of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, Ont. In 1913 he was appointed coadjutor Bishop of Ontario and Bishop of Kingston, a position he held until he was made Bishop of Ontario in 1917.

Women Becoming More Airminded

Lady Thornton, widow of the late Sir Henry Thornton and assistant to W. A. Patterson, Chicago, president of United Air Lines, is now vacationing in Victoria. She predicts an enormous growth of aerial-borne tourist trade after the war. Part of the responsibility for this growth rests with women, Lady Thornton believes, as women are becoming increasingly air-minded and many opportunities are opening up for them in the administration of air travel as the result of men being called away for military training and active service.

Booking passages is just one of many new fields women are taking over for the air lines, Lady Thornton reports. Women interior decorators are often employed to design the finishing details in the luxurious passenger planes, and women teachers are being used in the schooling of stewardesses.

Lady Thornton will be met here August 22 by Mr. Patterson, who will then travel to Vancouver to speak before the Vancouver Board of Trade. While in Victoria, Lady Thornton is staying at the Empress Hotel.

HOLE IN ONE CONTEST
In a recent issue of one of the papers, there was a statement to the effect that the Gyrco Club were not holding their "Hole in one" contest in aid of the Solarium, because of their inability to obtain suitable grounds.

At a special meeting of the School Board, August 6, a delegation from the Gyrco Club waited on the board and looked over the site at the Junior High School.

We are pleased to report, through the co-operation of the School Board, these grounds are available, and the "Hole in one" contest will be held August 20 to 23 inclusive.

WM. J. CLARK,
President.

"MAELSTROM"
I see I am not the only critic of this interesting little pamphlet. As my letter only professed to deal with the external of the crisis and barely mentioned the "betterment" question, I should like here to say a word about the social side, the more basic factor in the production of world chaos.

"Maelstrom" says truly—and it represents a swelling volume of public opinion that has grown rapidly even in the time since the pamphlet was first written—that Hitler, that bale-fire of our world, is only a symptom of a greater scourge than the breaking of international law itself, a hidden struggle more profound than open war. We are, and have long been, face to face with something even worse than the rise of the Nazis, namely, the social and economic mess which is responsible for the Nazi movement and the prevalent war mentality. It is that internal maladjustment, the wrongs of the poor, the raw deal, the displacement, which no government, no church, has yet handled with reason, with all-out justice and mercy.

"Maelstrom" fixes our attention on some straws in the wind, the faint and dubious intimations of approaching betterment.

Shortly recapitulated, they are: (1) Roosevelt's third term, Roosevelt, the friend of "the forgotten man." (2) Churchill's alliance with labor, productive already not of mere promises as in the last Great War, but this time bearing fruit while war is raging. In this "double play" the Spanish Republican government had led the way. (3) The quickening of the millions in China. (4) The pronouncement of the Anglicans and Catholics in England in favor of equal treatment from now on in reference to resources in this particular gesture is still regarded dubiously by many. But it sounds a hopeful note. (4) The spread in the very imperfect democracies of the west of the spirit of optimism reflected in the Leonora episode. "Happiness is deeper than unhappiness. Fortitude will conquer cruelty." In the words of the American song: "It's a great life if you don't weaken."

"Maelstrom" shows first the black cloud of world woe; but in the end appears the silver lining. The booklet is tonic; it is useful and practical in these fateful days, a buttress for morale.

B.I. FOUNDATION
It is rather strange that Mrs. Aitree Coley should refer to the 3rd of Galicians in her article on B.I., for it would be impossible to find a passage in the Bible which more clearly shows the essential falseness of B.I. Let me quote the closing verses of that chapter, 27-29: "For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female; for ye are all one in Christ Jesus. And if (note this "if") ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promises."

One has only to ask how many of the British race have been baptized into Christ (remembering that infant sprinkling is not baptism) to realize how impossible it is to regard the Anglo-Saxon peoples as the heirs of the promises. Individuals may be, but it is solely upon the basis of both faith and obedience, most certainly not because of their national origin.

HARRISON TO RUN

Mayor V. B. Harrison of Nanaimo has announced he will be a candidate for a seat in the Legislature. He did not disclose what party he would be identified with. The mayor, always a prominent Conservative, was defeated by Hon. George Pearson the year the minister made his entry into political life. Mayor Harrison's announcement contradicted reports Mr. Pearson would be given an acclamation.

CARIBOO TORY

Christy McDevitt, 33-year-old editor of the Wells Chronicle, was unanimously chosen to represent the Conservative party in Cariboo riding in the forthcoming provincial elections at a meeting of party members in Wells.

The nomination was proposed by John A. Fraser, Quesnel, former M.P. and M.P.P., and seconded by another former M.P.P., Roderick Mackenzie of Williams Lake.

In a brief speech accepting his selection, McDevitt emphasized the importance of first bending every effort toward winning the war and then concentrating on local problems.

Born in Ireland, McDevitt came to Canada 15 years ago and after spending most of his time in newspaper work became editor of the Wells Chronicle August, 1940.

KENNEY CHOSEN

E. T. Kenney, Liberal member of the last British Columbia Legislature for Skeena, was the unanimous choice of delegates at a Liberal nominating convention in Terrace.

Resolutions urging continuation of highway construction east of Skeena and construction of a landing wharf at Kalum Lake were adopted.

SEARCH FOR A LEADER

Dominion Conservatives will hold a convention in Ottawa next June for the purpose of selecting a permanent leader.

Because of the war, the gathering will not be on as elaborate a scale as the 1938 convention, at which Hon. R. J. Manion was chosen, or the 1927 meeting in Winnipeg when the present Lord Bennett was given the call. Instead of five representatives attending from each constituency, there probably will be only two.

The stage for the convention is to be set at Ottawa late in October or the first week in November when the Conservative national council, comprising party provincial leaders, representatives designated by provincial organizations, Hon. R. B. Hanson, house leader, and Dominion opposition members and senators will attend.

No new material for the leadership has cropped up as a result of Mr. Hanson's tour to the Pacific coast, it is ascertained.

Definitely, it is stated, he will not be a candidate. The chief candidates are expected to be Murdoch McPherson of Regina, who ran second to Dr. Manion at the 1938 convention; Joseph H. Harris, M.P., Toronto; Sydney Smith, University of Manitoba head, and Howard C. Green M.P. Vancouver.

COURTENAY—W. E. Mantle will be Liberal standardbearer in Comox riding. He was chosen at a Liberal nominating convention last night. Member at the disso-

Gives $22,350 to 'Wings for Britain'

The first unsolicited contribution to "Wings for Britain," the fund recently organized throughout Canada to provide fighter planes for Britain, is a gift of $22,350 by Lady Davis of Montreal. Her generous check will defray the cost of one Spitfire.

"I wish I could give a fleet of Spitfires," said Lady Davis. "My son, Phillip Davis, is one of the four King's Messengers in the Royal Air Force. So I am going to call this Spitfire King's Messenger. I hope Canadians can supply a plane for each of them."

The fund, organized with the approval of the British Ministry of Aircraft Production, and registered under the War Charities Act, provides a means for the people of this country to make their contribution to the Royal Air Force in recognition of their gallantry. The Dominion headquarters of the organization is at 215 St. James Street, Montreal. The executive committee is headed by J. W. McConnell, while the women's division is under the direction of Hon. Margaret Shaughnessy. Mrs. E. W. Hamer is honorary head of the British Columbia organization, with Miss Sara Spencer as chairman of the Victoria Women's Committee.

To swell funds for the cause, stores throughout Canada are selling special merchandise, including scarfs, pins and playing cards, gaily decorated with replicas of the R.A.F. wings. Stores handling this merchandise in Victoria include Gordon Ellis Ltd., Hudson's Bay Co., Island Weavers, Marionette Library, Mallick's, David Spencer Ltd., Straiths' and W. and J. Wilson. All proceeds from the sale of these articles will go to the Wings for Britain fund. Miss Sara Spencer will be glad to receive any inquiries.

Crashed Plane Into Nazi Ship

TORONTO (CP)—Graphic description of how a friend of his crashed a bomb-loaded plane into a Nazi ship was told in a letter from Herbert J. Coles, Royal Canadian Air Force pilot, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Coles of Toronto.

"One day I was out on patrol over the North Sea," he wrote. "On another plane was a Toronto pilot, a chum of mine. We spied a German ship below. The Toronto pilot went into a dive to bomb the vessel. Apparently he was hit, or could not pull out of the dive. So he headed for the Nazi ship which was scurrying for safety."

"I saw him smash into it, his bomb racks exploding, blowing his ship to bits. The German ship, mortally damaged, sank in a few minutes."

Reserve Needed

ALDERSHOT CAMP, N.S. (CP)—Warning that the day might come when the Canadian Reserve Army would find itself entirely responsible for defence of the Dominion was given by Brig. C. E. Connolly, district officer commanding M.D. No. 6, to more than 2,000 officers and men of the Reserve Army as they opened their training period here.

A situation might arise, he said, which would find the Active Army engaged elsewhere—leaving the reserve force entirely on its own.

Training of the reserve force to meet such a possibility need not be hindered by lack of equipment, and elementary training did not depend upon the latest in arms," he said.

"If your units are taught the ABC's," the brigadier told the officers, "the XYZ's will follow much more easily."

K. of C.

The Knights of Columbus Hut was packed Sunday when a variety show was given for the troops, their wives and sweet hearts, under the direction of James McGrath. Paul Michelin at the piano contributed a large measure of the success with his song slides. Other contributors were: Honor Benson, the Tune Termies, Maxine High, Ida Lalonde, Frank Lavery and Reg. Stofor. Refreshments were served at the conclusion by ladies of the C.Y.O. and the Catholic Women's League. Dancing will be held as usual on Wednesday and motion pictures on Thursday.

Sports Mirror Exhausted Angler

By PETE SALLAWAY

JOHNNY WENGER, Victoria's crack trapshooter and present British Columbia singles champion, returned from the three-day annual Lake Crescent Indian shoot with something more than a good sunburn. As a matter of fact Wenger brought back just about enough silverware to start up another store in his own particular line. On Thursday Johnny cracked 96 out of 100 in the B class championship. On Friday and Saturday he got high all-round handicap in class B. In addition he won the all-round open doubles and was high in B class singles with 94 out of 100. To top it off he won a prize in the aggregate for the three days.

A $1,000 golf tournament where the opportunity to spend a holiday is being more strongly stressed than the golf advantages is the case of the western Canada open championship over the Shaughnessy Heights links August 21, 22 and 23. Sponsored by the Vancouver Sun the competition is being staged in aid of the Queen's Canadian Fund for British air raid victims. Acting as ambassadors for the tournament Jack Patterson of the Sun and Ken Black, present Canadian amateur champion, were in town yesterday.

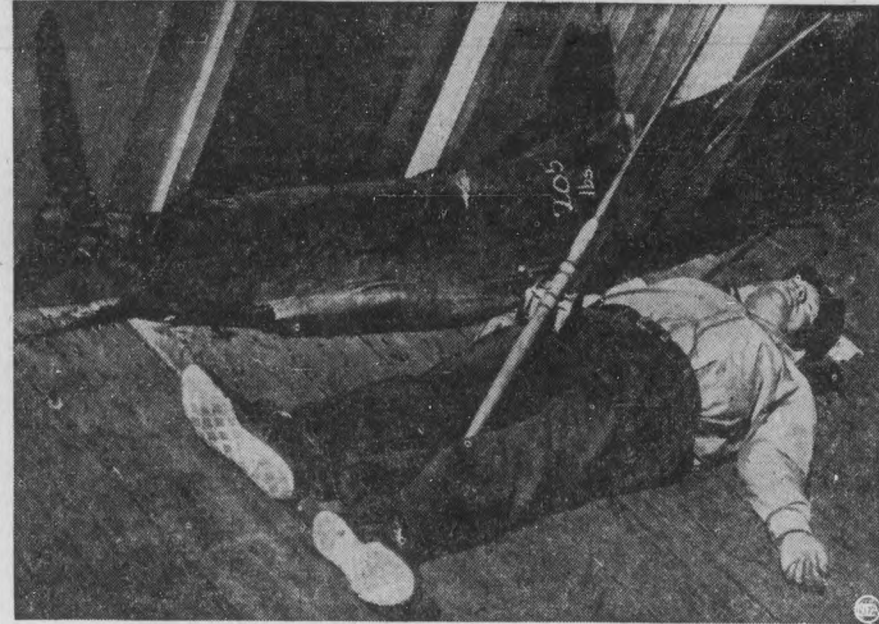

The two Vancouverites informed us they had received a grand reception from the local pros and amateurs and expect a good entry from this city. Joe Pryke, Colwood; Phil Taylor, Oak Bay and Walter Gravin, Uplands, the city's three ranking professionals have signified their intention to compete in the event and also plan to take several amateurs along with them.

Inaugurated last year over the Capilano course the western open was copied by Freddy Wood by a single stroke over Neil Christian of Yakima. Black was third and topped the simon pure shotmakers. However, last year the event was run off in two days with the boys having to shoot 36 holes a day. This year it will be a three-day affair with 18 holes the first two days and 36 holes the third.

Professionals in Washington, Oregon and California have been sold on the tournament and the sponsors are looking for around 60 outside entries, professionals and amateurs. Entertainment of the visiting players and their wives will be one of the highlights of the tournament. It is planned to take the out-of-town players salmon fishing while shopping trips, teas, etc., will be arranged for the women. In other words the golfing widows are going to be really looked after.

One of the most enthusiastic members of the committee in charge is Jimmy McLarnin, former world welterweight boxing champion, who is spending the summer visiting his folks in Vancouver. "Jimmy is shooting real golf now and his rounds are often in the low 70s while the other day he fired a 69 while playing with me," Black told us. Other members of the committee are: George Morgan, Bill Charlton, Benny Colk and Black. Any Victorian interested in the tournament can secure an entry form on application to the writer.

Tommy Musgrave was the big noise in the Tillicums' win. In addition to hurling five-hit ball the big fellow punched out five successive hits, including a double and four singles. Musgrave struck out nine and walked four. Wilf Shoultice, who hurled for the gasmen, was found for 13 hits. He struck out

Tillicums Win Baseball

Musgrave Game Star

Tillicum Athletics must like the number three. Last night in their city baseball playoff against Pitzer and Nex they scored a trio of runs in the third, fifth and eighth innings to check in with a 9 to 2 victory. It tied the series at one game apiece, forcing a sudden-death affair at the Athletic Park tomorrow night, starting at 6.15. The winner will go into the final against the Eagles.

Tommy Musgrave was the big noise in the Tillicums' win. In addition to hurling five-hit ball the big fellow punched out five successive hits, including a double and four singles. Musgrave struck out nine and walked four. Wilf Shoultice, who hurled for the gasmen, was found for 13 hits. He struck out five and issued seven free passes to first.

In the opening game of the second division final for the Humphreys Cup the Eagles defeated the Navy 12 to 4. Second game will be played tomorrow night at 6.15 at Beacon Hill.

WEEK-END GAMES

On Friday night at the Athletic Park the Eagles and Chelmainus will open their playoff for the McGavin Cup. The clubs finished the regular schedule in a tie and will play a best-of-three series. Second and third games are billed at Chelmainus Sunday.

On Saturday the Victoria All-Stars are scheduled for two exhibition games against Gordon Wreckers, leaders of the Bellingham League.

Cards-Dodgers Battle On

Expect Break Soon

A couple of years ago people were poking fun at the National League as a big minor league, but it knocked out the rival American League in two all-star games and the world series in 1940 and this summer has been giving the fans the only run for their money available under the big top.

The battle going on between Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals for the pennant in the senior circuit is as exciting as the "Perils of Pauline" with the buzz saw getting closer at the end of every daily installment.

The Dodgers bashed down hard on New York Giants yesterday, 15 to 7, and St. Louis Cardinals conquered Chicago Cubs 7 to 5 to continue their neck-and-neck race with the Dodgers still in front by the slender margin of .003.

Irby Higbe pitched and batted the Dodgers to their triumph, and his own 16th of the season. He checked the Giants on seven hits and kept them scoreless until long after the issue was decided.

The Cardinals likewise nailed down their victory early, taking a 6 to 1 lead in the first four frames, but it took a magnificent relief pitching performance by Harry Gumbert to save it for them. In the fifth Lon Warneke was pelted for successive home runs by Phil Cavarretta, Stan Hack and Bill Nicholson. Gumbert, who had been unimpressive recently, hurried to the scene and pitched no-hit ball for 4 2/3 innings to stop Chicago cold.

YANKS LISTLESS
The listless New York Yankees, so far in front of the American League that few people pay any attention to them, were shut out 8 to 0 by Boston Red Sox as Jack Wilson pitched four-hit ball for his first complete game of the season.

The wave of "beanings" during the week-end brought on a fight as part of the double-header between St. Louis Browns and the White Sox at Chicago. In the first game Elden Auker smacked Joe Kuhel on the shoulder with a pitch. One word led to another and then to fistfuffs. Players of both teams rushed out and Alan Strange of the Browns joined in the sparring. All three were banished after order was restored.

The White Sox went on to win the first game 14 to 9 with Luke Appling batting in five runs in leading a 14-hit attack. The Browns captured the night-cap 10 to 3 with a 17-hit assault for George Caster's first victory of the year.

PAN-AMERICAN GAMES
NEW YORK (AP)—Francisco Borgonovo of Buenos Aires, treasurer of the Argentine Olympic committee, reported to U.S. amateur sports officials yesterday that his committee had underwritten a $500,000 budget for the Pan-American Games at Buenos Aires November 21 to December 6, 1942.

MID-ISLAND SOFTBALL
In the first game of the Mid-Island Softball Association senior A men's finals at Ladysmith, Sunday, Alberni defeated Ladysmith 7 to 6. Next game will be played at Alberni, Sunday, at 2.30.

RAILS LEADING JOCKEY
SEATTLE (AP)—Charlie Rails of Houston, Texas, continued to set the pace for jockeys at the Longacres race track the past week. He has had 43 wins, 17 seconds and 26 thirds, taking 11 to the winner's circle the last five days.

Doug Dodson remained second with 34 wins, only scoring four victories last week. Apprentice Arthur Howrey has 28 wins.

GETS HOLE IN ONE
While playing at the Uplands golf club over the week-end A. W. Hayter, a member of Point Grey club, scored a hole in one at the 135-yard 16th hole. He was playing with A. Edmonds.

Boxla Goes On Despite Squawks

With local boxla crashing through a barrage of protests, squawks, recusations and cries of murder and sabotage the boys of the Alerts and Jokers will again take up the fight tonight.

The latter team is a game up in the semifinal playoffs and will have technically won the series if it wins tonight. The final outcome, however, will not be known until the appeal of the Alerts against a protest given to Jimmy Smith's lads last week is clarified.

If the Alerts win tonight the series will be tied and if the appeal goes through they will go into the finals. Everything is as clear as mud, however, and the local boxla players, officials and bosses are as bewildered as the fans.

Whatever the results tonight's battle is going to be a hot one. The Alerts will have the two biggest men in the league on defence together for the first time this season. They are Truck McDonald and Lynn Patrick. Max (Jumbo) Turner, who was out of the city for the last game, will be back to add his ability and weight to the Joker line-up. The game starts at 8.30.

At 7 McLean's Bakery and Owl Drug will meet in the second game of the junior final. At 6 Clarksons and Oaklands will cross sticks in the second game of the juvenile play-off.

Alert line-up follows: Bryant, McDonald, Patrick, K. Ovcharick, Perry, Coates, A. Ovcharick, Robbins, Thompson, Malcolm, Williams, Robinson and Pickford.

Capitanos Win Over Rainiers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Capitanos of the Western International League, backed up the six-hit pitching of Red Adams by wielding their bats handily to hand the Coast League champion Seattle Rainiers a seven-inning 4 to 2 defeat in a charity baseball game in aid of the Queen's Canadian War Fund here last night.

A steady drizzle of rain descended on the diamond throughout and intermittent downpours caused officials to call the game at the end of the seventh.

A two-run rally in the sixth broke a 2 to 2 deadlock and gave Vancouver the victory. First baseman Bill Wright started the rally when he beat out an infield hit and crossed the plate for the Cap's third run after Al Caliteaux drove out a long double into centre field. Catcher Bill Brenner then singled, scoring Caliteaux for the two-run advantage.

Jo Jo White, first batter of the game and one of baseball's most dangerous base stealers, started play off in spectacular style when he went for a high offering of Adams and belted it out of the park to draw first blood for Seattle.

Enid Wilson Injured in Raid

LONDON (CP)—Enid Wilson, British women's golf champion from 1931 to 1933, suffered an eye injury which may affect her sight permanently. Assistant section officer in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, Miss Wilson was injured in an air raid.

Officials of the all-England Tennis Club have traded tennis for pigs at Wimbledon, where the world's greatest netmen and women played in peacetime. The club is operating a thriving pig farm which may be extended to include poultry before the end of the year.

Acting Flight Lieut. Roger Edward Hunter, European police heavyweight boxing champion before he joined the Royal Air Force in 1938, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. The 6 foot 8 inch flying giant received the award "for outstanding zeal, cheerfulness and courage."

Big Jack London moved a step nearer a bout with Len Harvey for the British Empire heavyweight boxing championship by soundly beating Tommy Martin in a 10-round bout. London gave his Negro opponent a rough ride and only his gameness kept Martin on his feet to the end.

L. W. Furniss, 79, one of the founders of Manchester City Football Club and its president for the last 10 years, is dead. He was a director of the club for many years.

Walter Lacey, father of the English golfing aces, A. J. and Charley Lacey, has retired after 50 years as greenkeeper at various clubs. He started with the West Middlesex Club in 1891 and since 1927 has been at Ifield.

Chinese Boys Take Playoff

It was as close as a safety razor shave but the Chinese Recreation Club softball team came through with a last-inning sprint last night to nose-out the challenging Douglas Ties outfit 12 to 11 to move a notch closer to the city championship playdowns. The Chinese lads led the C section race through the whole season.

However, they had lumps in their throats and funny sensations running up and down their spines when they went into the last inning of the battle. The threshold men were leading 11 to 10, but were got to for two runs in that fatal session. It was ding-dong in its entire length, with each team holding the lead many times, but it was the Chinese who led last and thereby led best. Paul Leung and H. Lim comprised the Oriental battery and Bacon and Moir worked for the losers.

Dog Fanciers Will Hold Parlor Show

Annual summer parlor show of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association will be held in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden the evening of August 20. Robert Cross will judge all breeds. The show will be open to all pure-bred dogs, but they do not have to be registered.

Several fine prizes will be given to the following group winners: Best toy, best terrier, best working, best sporting, best sport ing hound, best sporting, best Canadian-bred and the best in the show. Entries will be taken at the door on the night of the event, at 7, and judging will commence about an hour later. Other information may be had by communicating with the secretary, Mrs. C. Bloomfield, at G 4788.

Local C.P.R. Net Stars Win Match

Defeating the Vancouver representatives 7 to 6, Sunday, at Vancouver, C.P.R. (Victoria) Tennis Club players retained possession of the handsome Empire Trophy. The locals defeated their intracity rivals 9 to 4 in the first half of the home-and-home matches here and took the series 16 to 10.

CARDS GET YOUNG
ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Cardinals moved yesterday to strengthen their infield for the National League pennant drive, trading freshmen Steve Mesner to their Rochester farm club for Lloyd Young. Mesner has played infrequently. Young was with Pittsburgh from 1938 to 1940.

Navy Golfer Wins Services Tourney

Posting a net score of 66, R. Clements of the Navy captured the services golf tournament held at the Colwood Club over the week-end.

Tied for the runner-up position were Al Power, Army; C. Ellis, Navy, and I. Fraser, Army, with cards of 69. Other scores follow: G. Cole, Navy, 73; F. Burns, Army, 73; M. Bachynski, Navy, 73; R. Spavin, Army, 74; W. Spavin, Army, 74; H. Tordoff, Navy, 75; R. Service, Navy, 76; and J. Barlow, Army, 110.

Fred Burns, former pro at the Macaulay Point Golf Club, turned in the lowest gross score during the day by posting a 78, while I. Fraser was next on the list with a 79, and R. Clements and W. Spavin tied for third position with a pair of 80's.

Forty golfers teed off in the tournament and at the conclusion Dr. F. M. Bryant presented the prizes.

Open Play for City Net Titles

Annual battle for the city tennis championships got under way yesterday on the grass courts of the Victoria Club. Play was confined to the men's singles.

Carl Brand, recent winner of the Esquimalt championship, advanced through his first match, defeating J. A. McArthur, 8-6, 7-5. H. Bennett and J. Appleby won the only extra-set matches, defeating Stan Jackson and L. Passmore, respectively.

Results follow:
E. E. McCallum won from E. Potter, 6-3, 6-1.
R. A. Phillips won from C. H. Rutten, 6-1, 6-1.
W. Dunbar won from N. Greensmith, 6-2, 6-4.
C. Lucas won from O. F. L. King, 6-0, 6-0.
V. Sherman won from G. Briscoe, 6-2, 6-3.
T. L. Christie won from R. Lockley, 6-1, 6-1.
H. Bennett won from S. Jackson, 6-3, 8-10, 6-3.
A. C. Brand won from J. A. McArthur, 8-6, 7-5.
J. Appleby won from L. Passmore 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

Thatcher and Campbell Get Scores of 78

A pair of Seattle veterans, Reno Thatcher and Roy Campbell, tied for medalist honors in the qualifying round of the Seniors North west Golf Association tournament at Oak Bay yesterday with scores of 78.

Three other Seattle contenders, E. L. Skeel, Jack Ballinger and S. L. Russell, along with V. T. Tustin, Spokane, finished one stroke off the leaders. Two Portlanders, D. R. Munro and A. E. McIntosh, posted 80s while Wallace McMillan led the Victoria contingent in ninth position with an 81.

J. P. Loudon of Yakima, defending champion, qualified with an 82. Hon. John Hart, a former champion, failed to make the select group with an 86, as did Frank Thomas, holder of the city championship, who was one stroke more.

Scores of 84 or better qualified for the grand championship, although some of the veterans who qualified elected to play in their own class championships.

Cards of the two leaders follow:

Bird-eating Spider Is Largest Member of Tribe

The word "spider" grew out of an old Anglo-Saxon word meaning "to spin." We may give the meaning as "spinner," and that is a good way to describe this little animal.

Silk is spun by spiders, good silk which could be made into thread and woven into cloth if enough of it were obtained. Spiders do not get along well together, and that is why they are not kept in colonies like silk-worms.

Some spiders never spin webs in the open air. Yet they use silk in preparing nests, and for other purposes.

A person is apt to think of spiders as insects, but men of science do not class them as insects. They are called "arachnids." They differ in several ways from true insects.

A true insect has six legs, but a spider has eight. The body of a true insect is divided into three main parts, but the spider's body has only two main parts.

Most kinds of insects have wings. Certain insects, like ants, seldom have them, but in the spider world we find no wings at all. There are hundreds of kinds of spiders but none can spread wings and fly.

The nearest thing to a "flying spider" is one which spins out silk, and then sails through the air when blown by a strong breeze. A little "aviator" of this type may travel miles before landing.

Many female spiders spin silken cases in which to place their eggs, and then drag the egg-case after them as they move about. When the young spiders hatch, they may crawl on the body of the mother and cling there day after day.

Spiders differ a great deal in size. Some, when full-grown, can stand on a dime and have space left over. Others are very large.

The largest member of the whole tribe is the so-called "bird-eating spider." It is a native of the tropics, and is found chiefly in South America.

Some bird-eating spiders are large enough to spread their legs clear across a man's hand. The body alone may be as much as three inches long.

The bird-eating spider has a hairy covering. It lives chiefly on insects, but has been known to attack and kill humming-birds.

Adverse aspects are noted for today. There may be tension and quarrels among those doing monotonous work. The seers advise persons to say nothing that might arouse anger. Business leaders may be called upon to exercise careful judgment. Romance is favored by today's aspects.

Astrologers declare there may be news of food shortages in Germany. The people may be further deprived of necessities.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of an interesting year. Children born on this day may be quick-witted and possess much poise.

100,000 Light Years To Cross Milky Way

Dr. J. A. Pearce director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Little Saanich Mountain, addressed 150 persons Saturday night at the observatory on "The Milky Way." The lecture was illustrated by a series of photographs and visitors saw the Great Cluster in Hercules through the large telescope. The cluster is 36,000 light years from the earth and in it are 100,000 stars.

Dr. Pearce said the Milky Way was but one of 10,000,000 in the universe. He said that it was the central plane of the earth's stellar system and it was so wide that it took light 100,000 years to cross it. Only 5,000 of its 50,000,000,000 stars could be seen with the unaided eye.

Next Saturday evening Dr. C. S. Beals will speak on "Lucid Stars," heavenly bodies visible to the naked eye.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am married to a man who is the only child in the family. His father died when he was very young and he has always lived with his mother, who has dominated him in every way and to whom he has given all of his money since he was old enough to work. She is a very selfish woman, loves to spend money, and, even though her son is married, thinks that she must share equally in all he makes.

When we got married we all lived together. The plan has not worked out. She wants to go everywhere we go and we have no privacy at all. We have had many quarrels and I find out that we cannot live together any longer. My husband claims that she cannot live by herself. He always takes her side in any argument and always tells me that I am wrong, regardless of whether I am wrong or right.

Now he has gone away and has been away for several months. I have moved out and am living by myself, as I have a very good job and can support myself without his help. His mother is living by herself and is getting along very nicely, despite the fact that her son is not there. She has an income of her own and he sends her a certain amount every month.

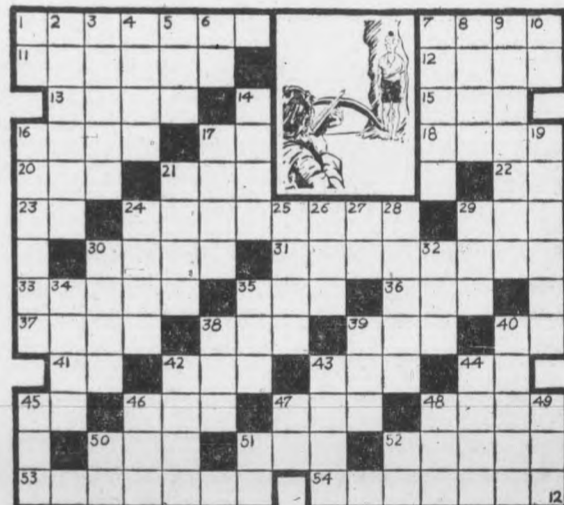

My husband is coming back soon and I have made up my mind that I will not go back to live with his mother and go through all that I have been through. Am I doing the right thing?

WONDERING.

Answer: If you have made an honest effort to get along with your mother-in-law and have found it impossible to do so, I think you are doing the right thing in leaving, for nothing can so poison all life and bring out all that is worst in human nature as to have to live in daily contact with someone who rubs one the wrong way.

It is silly for your husband to say that his mother can't live without him. Virtually every woman has to give up her son when he gets married, and certainly your mother-in-law would be much happier living among strangers than with a daughter-in-law with whom she waged a perpetual fight.

Living Cost Bonus

Premier Pattullo confirmed to-day that the government is looking into the question of a cost of living bonus for provincial civil servants.

He indicated no policy has been arrived at yet but that the action taken by the federal government will be studied with a view to provincial action.

The bonus, on the Ottawa basis of $1.93 a week, figured on the cost of living index, will cover 4,000 provincial employees, taking in those engaged permanently, temporarily and casually.

Bins for Scrap

VANCOUVER (CP)—Big bins, known as "corrals," to collect old aluminum and other scrap metal in the Red Cross campaign which opens September 1, may be set up at busy points along Vancouver streets. Ald. A. D. Wilson said he had seen huge depositories for scrap metal on Seattle streets and he thought Vancouver could well follow the example.

Civic Centre Plans Ended by Decision

Plans of the past two decades for the construction of a civic centre east of the present City Hall were ended today as a result of the decision of the City Hall to offer city property in the area for sale.

This decision was made on the recommendation of the council's lands committee. Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, committee chairman, explained that it was proposed to remove from the reserved list all city-owned properties in the blocks bounded by Douglas, Cormorant and Blanshard Streets and Pandora Avenue.

According to plans submitted at various times since 1922 in the past, this block and the block extending east to Quadra Street between Pandora Avenue and Fisgard Street were to be the site of a civic centre. The city for many years acquired and reserved property in the area.

The last civic centre plan was submitted in December, 1938, by L. A. Gale. It called for construction of an arena, court house, city hall, library, bus depot, public market and central firehall, and the laying out of a civic centre square. The city hall and court house would have been between Douglas and Blanshard Streets.

Construction of the arena and an athletic stadium was proposed in the block bounded by Blanshard, Caledonia, Quadra and Fisgard Streets.

Some of the buildings, Mr. Gale said in his proposal, would be needed for the centenary of the founding of Victoria in 1943.

Apart from ending dreams of the civic centre, the council's decision gave promise of possible development of a new business centre in the city. During the past few years Pandora Avenue has been improved with a view to making it a main traffic artery. The type and extent of business taking the new opportunity to acquire property on and near Pandora Avenue above Douglas Street will determine whether the area will become the centre of a new shopping district.

B.C. to Have Blackouts Without Warning

A regular air raid siren system will be set up in vulnerable areas of British Columbia and blackout practices will be increased until they are called without any other warning than the siren signal. Attorney-General Gordon Wismer announced after a conference with Dr. W. O. Glidden, federal A.R.P. officer, and Inspector S. F. M. Moodie, civilian protection officer for the province.

The next blackout practice will be in September. Others will follow, with the period of warning shortened each time, until the public is accustomed to having them called by the sirens.

The Dominion government will install the siren system. Sirens will be distributed by districts. It has been discovered that where only one or two big sirens are used for a large area some people do not hear them because of "silent pockets."

In the last blackout practice police and fire sirens and factory whistles were used as warnings.

Fire Destroys Five Tons of Hay

Greater Victoria firemen were kept busy again yesterday with grass fires, one of which destroyed five tons of hay belonging to T. Farrell and stacked in a field on East Saanich Road near Stellys Crossroad.

The blaze enveloped the haystack and spread quickly. Saanich Firemen were called at 3.15 in the afternoon. They were unable to determine the cause of the fire.

The municipal department also attended a grass fire at Stellys Crossroad and West Saanich Road at 4.10.

City firemen extinguished three grass fires yesterday afternoon and evening. The first was at 3.25, in Beacon Hill Park. The blaze was fought until 8.40 in the evening. The second fire was on Grant Street near Victoria High School, at 5.50. There was another grass fire at Hillside Avenue and Rose Street at 11.40 at night.

At 1.48 in the afternoon, city firemen put out a fire in a woodshed at the rear of 827 Pandora Avenue. Slight damage was done.

The city department also attended two fires this morning. One was a fire in a room at 1129 Yates Street at 11.54, which did slight damage. The other was a grass fire on Courtney Street at 11.28.

Oak Bay firemen had two large grass fires last night, the first second at 10.50 at the rear of the second at 10.5 at the rear of the horse stables at the Willows Race Track.

Slight damage was done to a car owned by H. Winter, 2073 Crescent Road, when the engine caught fire at 9.15 last evening. Oak Bay firemen attended.

Party Organizer Here

Gordon Grayson, federal organizer for the Conservative party, arrived in the city this morning and was welcomed by Herbert Anscomb, former provincial member for Victoria and Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown.

Mr. Grayson was entertained at luncheon by prominent local Conservatives before leaving for Nanaimo this afternoon.

North Saanich branch, Canadian Legion, will meet on Monday next at 8 at the Orange Hall, Saanichton.

Senior Golfers

Schwengers and McMillan Win

Two Canadians and six United States contenders gained the quarterfinals of the grand championship of the Senior Northwest Golf Association tournament following the first round of match play at the Oak Bay links today.

Carrying the colors of Victoria were Bernie Schwengers, a former champion, and Wallace McMillan. The former defeated E. L. Skeel, Seattle, 2 and 1, while McMillan had an easy time eliminating D. R. Fisher, Seattle, 7 and 6. In his match with Skeel, Schwengers held a four-hole lead at the eighth and survived a great comeback by his opponent that carried the match to the 17th green.

R. E. Campbell and R. E. Thatcher, both of Seattle and yesterday's co-medallists, won their matches today. Campbell defeated G. N. Pease, Portland, 7 and 6, while Thatcher won from Curtis Harold, Seattle, 5 and 4.

Dr. J. P. Loudon, Yakima, defending champion, won by default from V. T. Tustin, Spokane, when the latter took ill and had to quit the match after a few holes. Jack Ballinger, Seattle, another former champion, won from Paul F. Glaser, also of Seattle, 4 and 2.

S. L. Russell, Seattle, and D. R. Munro, Portland, accounted for a pair of local contenders. The former put out J. W. Ruggles 3 and 2 and Munro defeated F. W. Heath 3 and 2.

Tomorrow's quarterfinals will be: Campbell vs. Russell, Loudon vs. Munro, Thatcher vs. Ballinger and Schwengers vs. McMillan.

Canadian Cloth Goes to U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—The United States is buying from Canada a substantial quantity of white duck cloth for its armed forces, but as a condition of the contract Canada is purchasing an equivalent weight of American raw cotton.

The purchase is part of the Hyde Park arrangement under which United States undertook to buy from Canada surplus war supplies needed in United States. This was intended to cut down Canada's heavy adverse balance of trade and assist the Canadian exchange situation.

WOMEN are telling their friends that the Chesterfield Suites here are simply magnificent. And they are! They have the dignity of style that comes from true period authenticity, plus the charm of covering materials selected by the most famous interior decorators. There are colors from the palest apple green to the warmest maroon... stripes, plain fields and figured damasks. Truly a marvelous collection of suites with which to strike a bright new note in the furnishing of your living-room.

Back From Blitz

Canadian Troops Are Active, Impatient

A Canadian soldier groped his way through the murk of a Liverpool blackout during the blitz. He stumbled over a sack of potatoes, the nearest thing to a sandbag another soldier had been able to find to cover an incendiary bomb. He stooped to find what had tripped him.

"Well, for gosh sake," he roared, in a voice that rang out over the sound of the air attack. "What are the Germans dropping now? Baked potatoes?"

That is one of the true yarns brought back from overseas by Sgt. Arthur Bundoock, who served in Britain with the P.P.C.L.I. and is now back in Victoria to act as an instructor. Another one he can vouch for is this:

A woman was buried in debris during a raid on Liverpool. Soldiers dug a tunnel to her. Medical Officer Heggie crawled through the hole and gave her an injection to ease her pain.

"Is there anything else I can do to make you comfortable until we get you out?" Capt. Heggie asked.

"Yes," said the woman. "I'd like to have that ruddy Hitler down here for just five minutes."

This story is illustrative of the feelings of the British people, Sgt. Bundoock said.

"They're not downhearted," he declared. "The majority of them won't evacuate their homes even when the government wants them to. They patch up their dwellings with tar paper and sacks and whatever is available and carry on."

Canadian troops in England are impatient to clash with the Nazis, Sgt. Bundoock said. But he admitted they were far from inactive.

"We brought down one Messerschmitt 110 with a machine gun during a daylight raid," he said, speaking of his own unit. "The plane flew low over the area occupied by the first and second brigades. We captured several German pilots, too, when their planes were shot down by British pilots. We were stationed just about where the British usually started to break up German attacks."

Sgt. Bundoock and other Canadian troops served in Liverpool during the worst of the air raids, moving out in May after the raids had ended.

"I think the greatest destruction day, Rev. J. Hitchen will officiate and burial will be in Nanaimo cemetery. Knowles leaves his mother, two brothers, James, Victoria, and Joseph, Bevan, B.C., and four sisters, Mrs. A. J. Denyer, Mrs. D. Chisholm, Mrs. E. Edmunds and Mrs. A. Murray, all of Victoria.

tive weapon Hitler has is the land mine, let down by parachute," Sgt. Bundoock said. "The mine is set off by a plunger when it touches the ground, and the force of the explosion is horizontal rather than vertical. It blows down nearby buildings and makes others unsafe."

Canadians overseas would appreciate gifts of tobacco rather than cigarettes, he said. "Tobacco would last longer," he explained.

Sgt. Bundoock said he was sure other Canadian soldiers who returned to Canada with him were anxious, like himself, to get back overseas.

"We'd like to be with our friends, and we'd like to be in Britain when the fun starts," he declared.

Storm Smashes Pershing Statue

VERSAILLES, German-occupied France (AP)—The statue of Gen. John J. Pershing in Lafayette Park tumbled from its pedestal during a violent summer storm today and was smashed into hundreds of pieces.

A statue of Lafayette, facing Pershing on the other side of the highway, remained standing.

The two figures commemorate formation of the Lafayette Escadrille during the first Great War.

TOKYO (AP)—The foreign office announced today Ecuador had offered apologies through Japanese Minister Tsunoo Yanai for recent anti-Japanese activities in Ecuador.

Incidents which occurred recently included the Ecuadorian army's halting of the sailing of the Kiyokawa Maru from Guayaquil in July.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, has accepted an invitation from the Vancouver Exhibition Association to open the Canada Pacific Exhibition here August 25, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions and National Health, announced today.

Announcements

BIRTHS
DILLABOUGH—On August 8, at Royal Jubilee Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dillabough (nee Chaitou), a daughter.

HOCKLEY—On August 10, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. T. Hockley (nee Crystal A. S. M.), a son.

DEATHS
PEARS—At Calgary, Alta., Mrs. Margaret Ann Pears passed away. The late Mrs. Pears was the widow of Frederick Pears who passed away here on October 19, 1935, and formerly resided at 200 St. Charles Street, Victoria.

The remains will arrive in Victoria on Wednesday morning and will rest in McCall Brothers' Funeral Chapel from where the funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 1 p.m. Interment will be in the family plot in Colwood Burial Park.

WALKER—Passed peacefully away at the family residence, 1133 Rockland Avenue, on Sunday morning, Rev. David Walker, aged 82 years. The late Mr. Walker was born in Glasgow and had been a resident of this city for the last 23 years, where for many years he was minister of the George and Erskine Presbyterian Church and afterwards of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, on Yates Street. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Miss Ella R. Walker, at home and Mrs. W. Dow in Vancouver, B.C., and one son, Norman, in Vancouver, B.C., also four grandchildren.

The remains are resting at McCall Brothers' Funeral Chapel and funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Douglas Street. The Minister, Rev. J. W. McLean, will conduct the service after which interment will be made (Vancouver papers please copy).

GIBBS—Passed away very suddenly this morning, at the family residence, 336 Richmond Road, James Gibbs. The late Mr. Gibbs was born in Wedmore, Somerset, England and had been a resident of this city for the past 22 years. He leaves to mourn his passing, his widow Emily, one daughter, Mrs. F. E. Robinson, and two sons, James A. and Roy J. in England, also two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday, August 14, at 10:30 a.m. from the parlors of the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. The Reverend Archdeacon Cornish will officiate and interment will be in the family plot in the Colwood Burial Park.

War Program Puts Static In U.S. Radio Business

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON-The real picture of how the defence program is hitting nondefence business can best be appreciated when you take one industry and see how it's getting along under all this stress, strain, strife and semistrangulation. Take for example the radio industry. Nine out of ten families are now supposed to have at least one radio set blaring around the place, so that brings the matter pretty close to home.

Last year the industry made about 12,000,000 sets, valued at $450,000,000 on the retail line. That makes the average set worth around $37, and 75 per cent of the sets sold wear a price tag below $50.

With a lot of overlaps, there are about 300 manufacturers of radios and parts in the business today. Perhaps 125 of them are what you would call the leading manufacturers, but the others have been doing all right. There are about 5,000 radio dealers, and no telling how many more stores that sell sets and parts.

With that general and perhaps too simple picture of the industry last year, plot the defence business down on top of it and see what can happen.

SMALL FIRMS GET BIG BUSINESS

In the first place, there is a series of big orders for military radio sets—field portables, aircraft communication, special sets for the navy and its increased auxiliaries. That looks good as a boost for the industry, but this is a specialized job and it goes to the companies with manufacturing experience in the short-wave police, aircraft and marine fields.

What is hard to estimate, amounts to is $75,000,000, and most of it goes to smaller firms who have not been in the home radio field. The industry therefore expands to take care of this new production.

Then along come priorities, with shortages of all the metals radio sets use—copper for wire, brass and aluminum for parts. Instead of the 330,000 pounds of aluminum which the radio industry has been using every month, it is told it can have only 110,000 pounds a month. That's a 66 2/3 per cent cut right there, and no promises are made for next year, when the allowance may be cut to say 70,000 pounds a month, a 78 per cent cut.

If the industry were to take that without protest, it would mean that instead of making 12,000,000 sets a year, they would make only 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 sets. The manufacturers would all have to suffer proportionately, reducing their production to such an extent that two-thirds of them would probably have to shut up shop, or else the number of manufacturers would have to be reduced from 300 to between 70 and 100.

The industry doesn't take this beating without a struggle. The Radio Manufacturers' Association appoints a material bureau to conserve strategic supplies and to find substitutes. It is found, for instance, that an alloy of half steel, half aluminum is just as good for variable condensers as is pure aluminum. That helps, but then these alloys become strategic materials. The problem is to find substitutes for the substitutes.

DEALERS DEALT OUT? What happens to the 5,000 radio dealers in this situation is another chapter to the story. They either live on 20 to 30 per cent of their former income, or from 70 to 80 per cent of them go out of business. There is plenty of worry in Washington about the lost productive capacity, unemployment, the need for retraining of labor. So far, nobody has expressed much concern over what happens to the retail dealers, whether it's radio or hardware or household appliances they sell. Carrying their woes a little further, they must reduce their advertising, and the newspapers take a sock.

On top of this worry and woe, the new tax bill which proposes to raise manufacturers' excise tax from 5 1/2 to 10 per cent. That means a 4 1/2 per cent increase in the makers' costs, and it will be all moved on to the purchaser. Incidentally, the treasury estimates that this particular tax increase will yield an additional $4,900,000 are open to question.

If the production of sets and parts for the next year is cut two-thirds, the value of products even at the retail level would be only $150,000,000. And a 10 per cent tax on that would yield $15,000,000 instead of the $21,000,000 which the treasury expected.

All this comes just at a time when radio was getting ready to go places. In addition to the rise in popularity of the combination radio-phonograph, the new frequency modulation is here. And television is just around the corner.

The sad case is presented here not as a beef against the defence effort, but it points up the degree of sacrifice, readjustment and hard times which not only radio, but hundreds of industries are going to have to face.

OAK BAY THEATRE

If you've forgotten the thrill of being a high school senior, you'll relive it again by seeing "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," latest of the Hardy Family series, showing at the Oak Bay Theatre. The film, which opened yesterday, will remain for an engagement of three days.

Japs Came in 1896 Japanese immigration to Canada began about 1896.

least there is needed a clear, authoritative, honest statement.

"We are not children, nor is this a total state."

Mr. Macdonnell is right. At the very least a clear, honest statement is imperatively needed. Failing such a statement, there is likely to be wider and wider demand for a Royal Commission of inquiry into the Arvida scandal.

"These and other questions are in the minds of many citizens. These citizens do not ignore the difficulties. They do not ask information to be made public which will give comfort to the enemy, though on the other hand they probably fear that the alleged necessity of military secrecy is an all too convenient excuse."

"Surely the public should be informed—authoritatively, honestly. Nothing is worse than to allow the misgivings—perhaps exaggerated—which exist at present to multiply and to cause increasing want of confidence."

"Unless there is some reason against it, one would like to see a public inquiry, but at the very

From Winnipeg Tribune

The exchange of correspondence between the Honorable C. D. Howe and Mr. Antonio Talbot, member of the Quebec Legislature for Chicoutimi, concerning the Arvida strike, is published.

In the course of Mr. Howe's letter, referring to the absence of any call for a board of conciliation, he says:

"In this case, it appears that the employees did not take any step to discuss their complaints with the management and did not ask for the help of the ministry of labor."

"The ministry of labor sent to Arvida its conciliator-in-chief with the hope of reaching an agreement."

"They did not given any opportunity to conciliate. Quite to the contrary, the employees, disregarding the ordinary mechanics of the regulations, took possession of the property of the company which they occupied for nearly three days."

"During this time the operations of the company were completely immobilized, and Great Britain was deprived of her most important war material. In the light of these facts, I am rather surprised that you pretend that I have falsely represented the situation at Arvida."

"Must I understand by your telegram that you are in favor of this way to settle workers' differences?"

QUESTIONS

So what? What has the Dominion government done about all this? We still need much more light.

What becomes, now, of the government's original contention that no labor dispute was involved at Arvida?

On what date did the Minister of Labor send its conciliator-in-chief to Arvida?

Since the employees took possession of the plant and occupied it for nearly three days, what has been done about this?

What about the promised arrests?

Why did it take three days to get the soldiery to Arvida?

Why was all news suppressed for five days?

These and many other questions remain completely unanswered. The Tribune is not alone in raising these questions. They are being asked from coast to coast.

UP TO MR. HOWE

"The Globe and Mail of Toronto prints an interesting letter from J. M. Macdonnell, president and general manager of the National Trust Company. Mr. Macdonnell's inquiries are exceedingly pertinent, however mildly phrased:

"There must be many more who, like myself, feel that the people of Canada are entitled to further investigation regarding the Arvida incident."

"The public learns—several days after the event—that what is doubtless the most important munitions plant in Canada has been for several days in the hands of unauthorized persons. This comes from the Minister of Munitions—and virtually nothing authoritative since."

"We have been waiting for some explanation but so far nothing has happened to clarify the situation."

"Is the matter to rest here? If so, I think the result will be lamentable."

"At the moment various and conflicting doubts and fears are in the public mind. Did the (excellent) R.C.M.P. fall down on the job? Did Ottawa timidly fumble the situation as many think? Was there a conflict between Ottawa and Quebec?"

"These and other questions are in the minds of many citizens. These citizens do not ignore the difficulties. They do not ask information to be made public which will give comfort to the enemy, though on the other hand they probably fear that the alleged necessity of military secrecy is an all too convenient excuse."

CAGNEY IN ROLE THAT FITS HIM

James Cagney has a role that fits him like the proverbial glove in "Devil Dogs of the Air," which Warner Bros. have returned to the screen, and is now being shown locally at Dominion. He plays the part of a defiant recruit in the marine corps who finally learns what discipline means. Pat O'Brien is co-starred with Cagney as a fellow Devil Dog. In the cast besides Cagney and O'Brien are Margaret Lindsay and Frank McHugh. Lloyd Bacon directed the picture from the screen play by Malcolm Stuart Boylan and Earl Baldwin, based on the story by John Monk Saunders.
